for Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The applicant's temporary protected status was withdrawn by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reveals that the applicant filed an initial TPS application on June 5, 2000, under CIS receipt number WAC 01 044 51361. The director approved that application on March 7, 2001.

The applicant filed the current Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, on December 23, 2004, and indicated that he was re-registering for TPS.

The director simultaneously withdrew TPS and denied the re-registration, on June 12, 2006. The director noted that court dispositions in the record of proceedings revealed two misdemeanor convictions. The applicant had been convicted of theft on August 25, 1993, and of Inflicting Corporal Injuries on Spouse on November 19, 1996. The director, therefore, determined that the applicant is ineligible for TPS due to his record of at least two misdemeanor convictions. Section 244(c)(2)(B)(i) of the Act and 8 C.F.R. § 244.4(a).

On appeal, the applicant does not state a basis for the appeal, and he does not submit any evidence. Instead, the applicant states that he needs an additional 90 days to hire an attorney and to supplement his appeal to establish his eligibility for TPS. However, the record does not reflect that the applicant or counsel has submitted any additional evidence. Therefore, the record must be considered complete.

An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal. 8 C.F.R. §103.3(a)(1)(v).

Inasmuch as the applicant has failed to identify specifically an erroneous conclusion of law or a statement of fact in this proceeding, the appeal must be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed
