DISCUSSION: The Director, Texas Service Center, denied the employment-based immigrant visa petition, which is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a restaurant franchise. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a head baker. As required by statute, a labor certification approved by the Department of Labor accompanied the petition. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the continuing ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage beginning on the priority date of the visa petition. Therefore, the director denied the petition.

The AAO conducts appellate review on a de novo basis. See Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004). The AAO considers all pertinent evidence in the record, including new evidence properly submitted upon appeal.¹

On December 28, 2011, this office notified the petitioner that additional evidence and information was needed before the AAO could render its decision on appeal. The petitioner was asked to submit its annual reports, federal tax returns or audited financial statements for 2007, 2008, 2009, and 2010; and to submit Forms W-2 or Forms 1099 that were issued to the beneficiary during the relevant years.

The petitioner was also notified in the request for evidence that according to publicly available records, Amma, Inc. was not in good standing in the Commonwealth of Virginia, and that its current status is terminated.

If the petitioner is currently not in good standing, this is material to whether the job offer, as outlined on the immigrant petition filed by this organization, is a bona fide job offer. Moreover, any such concealment of the true status of the organization by the petitioner seriously compromises the credibility of the remaining evidence in the record. See Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582, 586 (BIA 1988)(stating that doubt cast on any aspect of the petitioner's proof may lead to a reevaluation of the reliability and sufficiency of the remaining evidence offered in support of the visa petition.). It is incumbent upon the petitioner to resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent objective evidence, and attempts to explain or reconcile such inconsistencies, absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth, in fact, lies, will not suffice. See id.

This office allowed the petitioner 45 days in which to respond to the request for evidence. More than 45 days have passed and the petitioner has failed to respond to this office's request. It is noted that the notice was sent to the petitioner's and to counsel's last known address. There has been no response from the petitioner or from the attorney of record, to date. Thus, the appeal will be dismissed. Failure to submit requested evidence that precludes a material lie of inquiry shall be grounds for denying the petition. 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(14).

¹ The submission of additional evidence on appeal is allowed by the instructions to the Form I-290B, which are incorporated into the regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(a)(1).

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
