DISCUSSION: The Director, California Service Center, denied the employment-based immigrant visa petition and it is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

Part 1 of the Form I-360, Petition for Amerasian, Widow(er), or Special Immigrant, identifies the [REDACTED] as the petitioner. Review of the Form I-360, however, indicates that the alien beneficiary is the petitioner. An applicant or petitioner must sign his or her application or petition. 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(a)(2). In this instance, Part 10 of the Form I-360, "Signature," has been signed not by any church official, but by the alien himself. Thus, the alien, and not the church, has taken responsibility for the content of the petition.

The self-petitioner seeks classification as a special immigrant religious worker pursuant to section 203(b)(4) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(4), to perform services as an evangelist/teacher. The director determined that the petitioner had not submitted any of the documentation required by 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(m) to establish that he is eligible for this visa preference classification.

The petitioner submits documentation in support of the appeal.

Section 203(b)(4) of the Act provides classification to qualified special immigrant religious workers as described in section 101(a)(27)(C) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(27)(C), which pertains to an immigrant who:

- (i) for at least 2 years immediately preceding the time of application for admission, has been a member of a religious denomination having a bona fide nonprofit, religious organization in the United States;
- (ii) seeks to enter the United States –
 - (I) solely for the purpose of carrying on the vocation of a minister of that religious denomination,
 - (II) before September 30, 2012, in order to work for the organization at the request of the organization in a professional capacity in a religious vocation or occupation, or
 - (III) before September 30, 2012, in order to work for the organization (or for a bona fide organization which is affiliated with the religious denomination and is exempt from taxation as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) at the request of the organization in a religious vocation or occupation; and
- (iii) has been carrying on such vocation, professional work, or other work continuously for at least the 2-year period described in clause (i).

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(m) provides:

To be eligible for classification as a special immigrant religious worker, the alien (either abroad or in the United States) must:

(1) For at least the two years immediately preceding the filing of the petition have been a member of a religious denomination that has a bona fide non-profit religious organization in the United States.

(2) Be coming to the United States to work in a full time (average of at least 35 hours per week) compensated position in one of the following occupations as they are defined in paragraph (m)(5) of this section:

(i) Solely in the vocation of a minister of that religious denomination;

(ii) A religious vocation either in a professional or nonprofessional capacity; or

(iii) A religious occupation either in a professional or nonprofessional capacity.

(3) Be coming to work for a bona fide non-profit religious organization in the United States, or a bona fide organization which is affiliated with the religious denomination in the United States.

(4) Have been working in one of the positions described in paragraph (m)(2) of this section, either abroad or in lawful immigration status in the United States, and after the age of 14 years continuously for at least the two-year period immediately preceding the filing of the petition.

The regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(m)(7)-(11) set forth specific evidence that the petitioner must provide in order to establish eligibility for benefits under section 203(b)(4) of the Act, including documentation establishing that the prospective employer is a bona fide non-profit religious organization, that the petitioner has the required two-years work experience, and how the prospective employer intends to compensate the petitioner. The petitioner provided the attestation required by the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(m)(7) as part of the Form I-360; however, he submitted no other supporting documentation with the petition. The director denied the petition based on the petitioner's failure to provide evidence of his eligibility.

On appeal, the petitioner submits a December 9, 2009 letter from T [REDACTED], signed by its pastor, [REDACTED], certifying that the petitioner "enter[ed the organization] in November 2005 [and] since then He has being [sic] engage[d] in the evangelistic activities meaning preaching and teaching." [REDACTED] stated that that the church supported the petitioner by providing him compensation in the form of “transportation, food, laundry detergent etc.” The petitioner also provided a December 31, 2006 “certificate of achievement” from True [REDACTED], in recognition of his work in “Sunday school and preaching the gospel.”

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(1) provides:

An applicant or petitioner must establish that he or she is eligible for the requested benefit at the time of filing the application or petition. All required application or petition forms must be properly completed and filed with any initial evidence required by applicable regulations and/or the form’s instructions.

The petitioner submitted no documentation with the petition. Accordingly, he failed to establish that he was eligible for the immigrant religious worker visa. The director, was therefore, well within his authority to deny the petition. See 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8)(ii). Additionally, the petitioner indicated on the Form I-360 that he was in removal proceedings. Therefore, any unauthorized work that he may have engaged in the United States while in an unlawful immigration status interrupts the continuity of his work experience for the purpose of this visa petition. See 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(m)(4).

An application or petition that fails to comply with the technical requirements of the law may be denied by the AAO even if the Service Center does not identify all of the grounds for denial in the initial decision. See Spencer Enterprises, Inc. v. United States, 229 F. Supp. 2d 1025, 1043 (E.D. Cal. 2001), aff’d, 345 F.3d 683 (9th Cir. 2003); see also Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004) (noting that the AAO conducts appellate review on a de novo basis).

In visa petition proceedings, the burden of proving eligibility for the benefit sought remains entirely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. Here, that burden has not been met. Accordingly, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
