Perry Rhew
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the service center director and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed as the matter is now moot.

The petitioner describes itself as a software and quality assurance testing business and indicates that it currently employs 350 persons. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a systems analyst (QA analyst). The petitioner, therefore, endeavors to classify the beneficiary as a nonimmigrant worker in a specialty occupation pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b).

The director denied the petition because the petitioner failed to establish that it qualifies as a U.S. employer or agent, that it has complied with the conditions of the labor condition application, and that the proffered position qualifies as a specialty occupation. The director also found unexplained discrepancies in the record. On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional evidence.

A review of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) records indicates that on April 16, 2009, the petitioner submitted another Form I-129 [REDACTED] on the beneficiary's behalf. USCIS records further indicate that Form I-129 [REDACTED] was approved on October 13, 2009, which granted the beneficiary H-1B status from October 7, 2009 until October 6, 2010. Because the beneficiary in the instant petition has been approved for employment with the petitioner based upon the filing of another petition, further pursuit of the matter at hand is moot.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. The petition is denied.
