DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the service center director and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed as the matter is now moot.

The petitioner is a pathology laboratory that seeks to employ the beneficiary as a histotechnologist. The petitioner, therefore, endeavors to classify the beneficiary as a nonimmigrant worker in a specialty occupation pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b).

On January 6, 2010, the director denied the petition, finding that the petitioner failed to demonstrate that the beneficiary possesses the requisite license in the State of California, nor has proven an exemption from the said requirement. On appeal, counsel stated that supplemental evidence would be provided within thirty (30) days and subsequently submitted a license valid from December 2009 to December 2012.

A review of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) records indicates that on March 8, 2010, a date subsequent to the denial of the instant petition, the petitioner submitted a new Form I-129 on behalf of the beneficiary. USCIS records further indicate that this second petition was approved on April 28, 2010, which granted the beneficiary H-1B status from April 26, 2010 to February 24, 2013. Because the beneficiary in the instant petition has been approved for H-1B employment with the petitioner based upon the filing of another petition, further pursuit of the matter at hand is moot.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. The petition is denied.
