IN RE:

Applicant:

APPLICATION: Application for Permission to Reapply for Admission into the United States after Deportation or Removal under section 212(a)(9)(A)(iii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(A)(iii)

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT: SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The Application for Permission to Reapply for Admission into the United States after Deportation or Removal (Form I-212) was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Mexico who, on July 25, 1997, at the San Ysidro, California, Port of Entry, represented herself to be a citizen of the United States in order to gain admission into the United States. The applicant was found to be inadmissible pursuant to section 212(a)(6)(C)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(C)(ii), as an alien who falsely represents herself to be a citizen of the United States for any purpose or benefit under the Act. Consequently, the applicant was expeditiously removed from the United States pursuant to section 235(b)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1). The record reflects that on January 3, 2001, at the American Consulate in Monterrey, Mexico, the applicant applied for a nonimmigrant visa. On her application the applicant failed to reveal that she had previously used other names and that she had tried to enter the United States illegally. The applicant was issued a nonimmigrant visa and on January 9, 2001, she was admitted as a visitor for pleasure. On March 23, 2001, the applicant married a now naturalized U.S. citizen. The applicant is the beneficiary of an approved Petition for Alien Relative (Form I-130) filed by her U.S. citizen spouse. The applicant is inadmissible under section 212(a)(9)(A)(i) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(A)(i) and seeks permission to reapply for admission into the United States under section 212(a)(9)(A)(iii) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(A)(iii) in order to remain in the United States and reside with her U.S. citizen spouse.

The Director determined that the applicant is not eligible for any exception or waiver under section 212(a)(6)(C)(ii) of the Act and denied the Form I-212 accordingly. See Director's Decision dated March 10, 2004.

Section 212(a)(6)(C) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that:

(ii) Falsely claiming citizenship -

(I) In general- Any alien who falsely represents, or has falsely represented, himself or herself to be a citizen of the United States for any purpose or benefit under this Act (including section 274A) or any other Federal or State law is inadmissible.

(II) Exception- In the case of an alien making a representation described in subclause (I), if each natural parent of the alien (or, in the case of an adopted alien, each adoptive parent of the alien) is or was a citizen (whether by birth or naturalization), the alien permanently resided in the United States prior to attaining the age of 16, and the alien reasonably believed at the time of making such representation that he or she was a citizen, the alien shall not be considered to be inadmissible under any provision of this subsection based on such representation.

On appeal, counsel states that the applicant was given a statement that was not translated for her and she was unable to read or understand it. In addition, counsel resubmits a statement by the applicant in which she states that she only told the immigration inspector that her husband was a U.S. citizen and that the form she signed was never translated to her. Furthermore, counsel states that the applicant was denied the procedural due process she was entitled to.

Although counsel states that the applicant's rights to procedural due process were violated, she has not shown that any violation of the regulations resulted in "substantial prejudice" to her. See De Zavala v. Ashcroft, 385 F.3d 879, 883 (5th Cir. 2004) (holding that an alien "must make an initial showing of substantial prejudice" to prevail on a due process challenge). Accordingly, counsel's claim is without merit.

Counsel's statements are not persuasive. The record of proceedings contains a Record of Sworn Statement in Proceedings under Section 235(b)(1) of the Act (Form I-867B) regarding the applicant's admissibility into the United States. The interview was conducted in the Spanish language and according to the record of proceedings her statement was read to her before she signed the statement. During the interview the applicant admitted that she told an immigration inspector that she was a U.S. citizen in an attempt to enter the United States.

A false representation of U.S. citizenship may be either an oral representation or one supported by an authentic or fraudulent document. In the present case, the applicant made an oral representation of U.S. citizenship in order to gain admission into the United States. The applicant is clearly inadmissible under section 212(a)(6)(C)(ii) of the Act.

Section 212(a)(6)(C) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that:

(ii) Falsely claiming citizenship -

(I) In general- Any alien who falsely represents, or has falsely represented, himself or herself to be a citizen of the United States for any purpose or benefit under this Act (including section 274A) or any other Federal or State law is inadmissible.

(II) Exception- In the case of an alien making a representation described in subclause (I), if each natural parent of the alien (or, in the case of an adopted alien, each adoptive parent of the alien) is or was a citizen (whether by birth or naturalization), the alien permanently resided in the United States prior to attaining the age of 16, and the alien reasonably believed at the time of making such representation that he or she was a citizen, the alien shall not be considered to be inadmissible under any provision of this subsection based on such representation.

The applicant in the instant case does not qualify for the exception under section 212(a)(6)(C)(ii)(II) of the Act.

Matter of Martinez-Torres, 10 I&N Dec. 776 (reg. Comm. 1964) held that an application for permission to reapply for admission is denied, in the exercise of discretion, to an alien who is mandatorily inadmissible to the United States under another section of the Act, and no purpose would be served in granting the application.

Notwithstanding the arguments on appeal the applicant was removed from the United States for having represented herself as being a U.S. citizen. The applicant is subject to the provisions of section 212(a)(6)(C)(ii) of the Act, which are very specific and applicable. No waiver is available to an alien who has made a false claim to United States citizenship. Therefore, no purpose would be served in the favorable exercise of discretion in adjudicating the application to reapply for admission into the United States under section 212(a)(9)(A)(iii) of the Act. Accordingly, as the applicant is not admissible to the United States, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
