ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT:

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. If your appeal was dismissed, you no longer have a case pending before this office, and you are not entitled to file a motion to reopen or reconsider your case.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The termination of the applicant's temporary resident status by the Director, Texas Service Center is before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director terminated the applicant's temporary resident status because the applicant failed to file the application for adjustment of status from temporary to permanent residence within the 43-month application period.

On appeal, the applicant states that he attempted to file a timely application in 1992, but the application was returned to him. He explains that he then concluded that did not qualify because of a criminal conviction. He further indicates that, by the time that he found out that his conviction might not be disqualifying, it was too late to file a timely application.

The status of an alien lawfully admitted for temporary residence under section 245A(a)(1) of the Act may be terminated at any time if the alien fails to file for adjustment of status from temporary to permanent resident on Form I-698 within forty-three months of the date he/she was granted status as a temporary resident under § 245a.1 of this part. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.2(u)(1)(iv).

The applicant was granted temporary resident status on January 11, 1989. The 43-month eligibility period for filing for adjustment expired on August 11, 1992. The Application for Adjustment of Status from Temporary to Permanent Resident (Form I-698) was first submitted on January 20, 1998. The director therefore denied the untimely I-698 application, and subsequently terminated the applicant's temporary resident status.

The burden to file the adjustment application in a timely manner remains with the applicant. See 8 C.F.R. § 245a.3(d). As the applicant has not overcome the grounds for termination of status, the appeal must be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
