Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for permanent resident status under the Legal Immigration Family Equity (LIFE) Act was denied by the District Director, New York, New York, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be rejected.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish that he satisfied the “basic citizenship skills” required under section 1104(c)(2)(E) of the LIFE Act.

On appeal, the applicant states that the interviewing officer made him nervous, and he was unable to give proper answers to the questions. The applicant requests another opportunity to pass the citizenship skills test.

An affected party filing from within the United States has 30 days from the date of an adverse decision to file an appeal. An appeal received after the 30-day period has tolled will not be accepted. The 30-day period for submitting an appeal begins three days after the Notice of Decision is mailed. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.20(b)(1).

The record reflects that the director sent her decision of September 21, 2005, to the applicant at his address of record in the United States on September 22, 2005. The applicant initially submitted his application without the appropriate fee. An application or petition that is submitted without the proper filing fee “shall be rejected as improperly filed. Rejected applications . . . will not retain a filing date.” 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(a)(7). Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) received the appeal with the appropriate filing fee on October 28, 2005, 36 days after the director issued her decision. Therefore, the appeal was untimely filed.

ORDER: The appeal is rejected as untimely filed.
