John F. Grissom
Acting Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The applicant's Temporary Protected Status was withdrawn by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant claims to be a citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reveals that the applicant filed a TPS application during the initial registration period on July 6, 1999, under receipt number SRC 99 218 51828. The Director, Texas Service Center, approved that application on July 3, 2000.

The director may withdraw the status of an alien granted Temporary Protected Status under section 244 of the Act at any time if it is determined that the alien was not in fact eligible at the time such status was granted, or at any time thereafter becomes ineligible for such status. 8.C.F.R. § 244.14(a)(1).

An alien shall not be eligible for temporary protected status under this section if the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security finds that the alien has been convicted of any felony or two or more misdemeanors committed in the United States. See Section 244(c)(2)(B)(i) of the Act and 8 C.F.R. § 244.4(a).

8 C.F.R. § 244.1 defines "felony" and "misdemeanor:"

Felony means a crime committed in the United States, punishable by imprisonment for a term of more than one year, regardless of the term such alien actually served, if any, except: When the offense is defined by the State as a misdemeanor and the sentence actually imposed is one year or less regardless of the term such alien actually served. Under this exception for purposes of section 244 of the Act, the crime shall be treated as a misdemeanor.

Misdemeanor means a crime committed in the United States, either

- (1) Punishable by imprisonment for a term of one year or less, regardless of the term such alien actually served, if any, or
- (2) A crime treated as a misdemeanor under the term "felony" of this section.

For purposes of this definition, any crime punishable by imprisonment for a maximum term of five days or less shall not be considered a misdemeanor. 8 C.F.R. § 244.1.

An alien is inadmissible if he has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude (other than a purely political offense), or if he admits having committed such crime, or if he admits committing an act which constitutes the essential elements of such crime. Section 212(a)(2)(A)(i)(I) of the Act.

The record reveals the following offenses:

- (1) On April 10, 2005, the applicant was arrested by the Dallas, Texas Police Department for "Driving While License Invalid", and "Driving While Intoxicated [REDACTED]".

Pursuant to a letter dated September 26, 2007, the applicant was requested to submit the final court disposition for each of the charges detailed above. The applicant submitted the requested court documentation. According to the final court dispositions, the applicant pled Guilty/Nolo Contendere and was convicted of both charges on September 26, 2005.

The director withdrew temporary protected status because the applicant had been convicted of two misdemeanors in the United States.

On appeal, counsel for the applicant claims that "No Finding of Guilt" was the final disposition in regards to the "Driving While License Invalid" charge. While a criminal misdemeanor records search document from the Dallas County Clerk does indicate a disposition of "No Finding of Guilt," the actual court disposition of this charge, which was provided by the applicant himself, clearly indicates that the applicant pled Guilty Nolo Contendere to this charge on September 26, 2005 as part of a deferred adjudication action. Section 322(c) of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRAIRA), specifically states that the amendment of the definition of conviction "shall apply to convictions and sentences entered before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act. As the Supreme Court stated in Landgraf v. US Film Prods., 511 U.S. 244, 114 S. Ct. 1483 (1994), the principle of applying the law in effect at the time of the decision does not conflict with the "presumption against retroactivity when the statute in question is unambiguous." Concerning the definition of conviction, the unambiguous language of section 322(c) leaves no doubt that Congress intended for the amendment in section 322(a) to be applied retroactively. Moose v. INS, 171 F.3d 994, 1007 (5th Cir. 1999).

The term 'conviction' means, with respect to an alien, a formal judgment of guilt of the alien entered by a court or, adjudication of guilt has been withheld, where - (i) a judge or jury has found the alien guilty or the alien has entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere or has admitted sufficient facts to warrant a finding of guilt, and (ii) the judge has ordered some form of punishment, penalty, or restraint on the alien's liberty to be imposed. Section 101(a)(48)(A) of the Act.

The court disposition submitted reflects that the applicant was found guilty of the offense and the judge ordered some form of punishment to the charge above. Therefore, the applicant has been "convicted" of this offense for immigration purposes.

Consequently, the director's decision to withdraw the applicant's temporary protected status will be affirmed.

The applicant is ineligible for TPS because of his misdemeanors convictions.

Furthermore, it is noted that the applicant has provided insufficient evidence to establish his qualifying continuous residence since December 30, 1998 and continuous physical presence from January 5, 1999 to the filing date of the TPS application. It is also noted that although the applicant has submitted a copy of a birth certificate with English translation, it was not accompanied by a passport or any national identity document from the alien's country of origin bearing photo and/or fingerprint to establish his nationality and identity. Therefore, the application must be denied for these reasons as well.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
