

Haitian Family Reunification Parole (HFRP) Program

The HFRP Program offers certain beneficiaries of approved family-based immigration petitions (Forms I-130, Petition for Alien Relative), the opportunity to be reunited with family in the United States before their immigrant visas are expected to become available. Approved beneficiaries will enter the United States as parolees, but will apply for lawful permanent resident (LPR) status once their immigrant visas become available.

Eligibility to Apply

The Department of State's National Visa Center (NVC) issues invitations to U.S. citizens or LPRs who filed Forms I-130 for Haitian family members that were approved on or before Dec. 18, 2014, and for which immigrant visas are expected to be available approximately within 18 – 36 months from the date of the invitation. Only U.S. petitioners who receive invitations from the NVC are eligible to apply for the HFRP Program. The NVC issues invitations at least once per year.

Petitioners should make sure that the NVC has their current mailing addresses. Petitioners can update their addresses with the NVC using the Public Inquiry Form found on the Department of State website at <http://travel.state.gov/content/visas/english/contact/ask-nvc.html>.

Eligibility for Parole

USCIS will authorize parole on a case-by-case basis. Beneficiaries must be interviewed in Haiti. Generally, beneficiaries will only qualify for consideration for parole if they would qualify for an immigrant visa (if one were immediately available). Derivative children* who are 21 years of age or older at the time the petitioner properly files for the HFRP Program will not be eligible for consideration. We will consider for parole any derivative children who are under 21 years of age on the date that a qualified petitioner properly files an HFRP Program application with USCIS on the child's behalf.

*A principal beneficiary is the relative for whom the petitioner filed the underlying approved Form I-130. Derivative beneficiaries are the principal beneficiary's spouse and unmarried children under 21. The invitation letter will indicate who is considered to be the principal beneficiary and who is considered a derivative beneficiary.

Applying to the HFRP Program

To apply to the HFRP Program on behalf of family members, petitioners who have received an invitation letter from the NVC must file a parole application (Form I-131, Application for Travel Document), along with the required fee (or fese waiver request), and at least one Form I-134, Affidavit of Support, for each relative they wish to have considered for parole. Petitioners must file

Form I-131 and Form I-134 for each eligible relative associated with the same underlying Form I-130 at the same time, meaning that they will need to file any applications for derivative beneficiaries at the same time as the application for the principal beneficiary. If a petitioner does not apply for the principal beneficiary of the Form I-130, we will not consider the associated derivative beneficiaries under the HFRP Program.

An application deadline is provided in the invitation letter from the NVC. Generally, petitioners are given six months from the date of the invitation to submit their application(s).

Costs

The current fee for filing a Form I-131 is $360, although a petitioner may request a fee waiver by filing the Form I-912, Request for Fee Waiver. For instructions, please see USCIS's Fee Waiver Guidance. Petitioners and/or beneficiaries will also be required to cover all costs associated with attending an interview in Port-au-Prince, the completion of a medical examination and travel to the United States, among other costs.

Beneficiary Interview Required

An interview is required for all program beneficiaries before parole may be authorized. Although a USCIS Service Center may conditionally approve a Form I-131 application, final approval of the application will require an in-person interview with a USCIS officer at the U.S. Embassy in Port-au-Prince. The NVC will schedule HFRP Program interviews and will notify both the petitioner in the United States and the beneficiary in Haiti of the date and time of interview. Petitioners should not attempt to schedule an appointment directly with USCIS or the U.S. Embassy.

If Travel is Approved

We will issue the necessary travel documents to the beneficiary, who must pay for his or her travel to the United States. Once at the port of entry, a U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) officer will inspect the beneficiary, review the documents and, assuming all is in order, parole the beneficiary into the United States. The beneficiary will be issued a Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, documenting his or her parole into the United States.

Initial Period of Parole

Beneficiaries approved under the HFRP Program will be paroled into the United States for an initial period of three years. This time period gives them time to apply for LPR status once their immigrant visas become available, which for most individuals, is expected to be within two years of being paroled into the United States.

Eligibility for Work Authorization

Parolees are lawfully present in the United States. Once in the United States, they will be eligible to apply for work authorization by filing the Form I-765, Application for Employment Authorization, and submitting the appropriate fee, which is currently $380.

What it Means to be Paroled

Parole allows an individual to be lawfully present in the United States and to apply for work authorization. Parole itself does not confer any legal immigration status in the United States. However, HFRP Program beneficiaries paroled into the United States are expected to apply for LPR status as soon as their immigrant visas become available—generally within two years of parole into the United States.

Public Benefits Eligibility

Once paroled into the United States, HFRP Program beneficiaries will meet the definition of Cuban/Haitian entrants under section 501(e)(1) of the Refugee Education and Assistance Act of 1980, as amended, and will be “qualified aliens” for the purposes of public benefits eligibility.

Adjustment of Status

Beneficiaries will be expected to apply for adjustment of status as soon as their immigrant visas become available, which generally is expected to be within two years of their parole into the United States. If visas have not become available at the time their initial parole authorization expires, HFRP Program beneficiaries will have to apply for re-parole if they are to remain lawfully present in the United States.
