² This is the sum of applications accepted by the USCIS Lockbox and add-on derivative applications accepted by USCIS Port-au-Prince (PAP).

³ The number of final approvals issued by USCIS PAP.

NOTE: On occasion the Department of State's National Visa Center (NVC) sends eligible Haitian petitioners of Form I-130 (Petition for Alien Relative) an invitation to apply to the program on behalf of their Form I-130 beneficiary relatives whose immigrant visas are not yet available. HFRP Program applications are filed with the Lockbox and sent to a USCIS service center for conditional approval or denial. If conditionally approved, the case is forwarded via the NVC to USCIS PAP for beneficiary interview. The beneficiary also completes a medical examination and undergoes additional security screening. After completion of these steps, USCIS PAP will either approve the case and issue travel documents for the beneficiary to travel to the United States, or deny the case.
