

U.S. Department of Homeland Security
U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services
Administrative Appeals Office (AAO)
20 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., MS 2090
Washington, DC 20529-2090

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration
Services

B2

DATE: NOV 03 2012

Office: TEXAS SERVICE CENTER FILE:

IN RE:

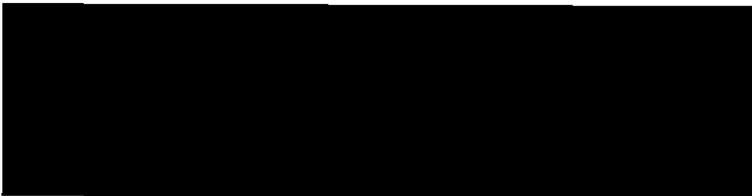

Petitioner:

Beneficiary:

PETITION: Immigrant Petition for Alien Worker as an Alien of Extraordinary Ability Pursuant to Section 203(b)(1)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(1)(A)

ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER:

INSTRUCTIONS:

Enclosed please find the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All of the documents related to this matter have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Please be advised that any further inquiry that you might have concerning your case must be made to that office.

If you believe the AAO inappropriately applied the law in reaching its decision, or you have additional information that you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reconsider or a motion to reopen in accordance with the instructions on Form I-290B, Notice of Appeal or Motion, with a fee of $630. The specific requirements for filing such a motion can be found at 8 C.F.R. § 103.5. Do not file any motion directly with the AAO. Please be aware that 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(1)(i) requires any motion to be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reconsider or reopen.

Thank you,

Perry Rhew
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The Director, Texas Service Center, denied the employment-based immigrant visa petition, which is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

According to Part 6 of the Form I-140 petition, the petitioner seeks classification as an “alien of extraordinary ability” pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(1)(A) as an “other health care practitioner.” The petitioner is a licensed acupuncturist. Medicine falls within the sciences. The director determined the petitioner had not established the sustained national or international acclaim necessary to qualify for classification as an alien of extraordinary ability.

Congress set a very high benchmark for aliens of extraordinary ability by requiring through the statute that the petitioner demonstrate the alien’s “sustained national or international acclaim” and present “extensive documentation” of the alien’s achievements. See section 203(b)(1)(A)(i) of the Act and 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3). The implementing regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3) states that an alien can establish sustained national or international acclaim through evidence of a one-time achievement of a major, internationally recognized award. Absent the receipt of such an award, the regulation outlines ten categories of specific objective evidence. 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(i) through (x). The petitioner must submit qualifying evidence under at least three of the ten regulatory categories of evidence to establish the basic eligibility requirements.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional evidence. For the reasons discussed below, upon review of the entire record, including the evidence submitted on appeal, the AAO upholds the director's conclusion that the petitioner has not established eligibility for the exclusive classification sought.

I. LAW

Section 203(b) of the Act states, in pertinent part, that:

(1) Priority workers. -- Visas shall first be made available. . . to qualified immigrants who are aliens described in any of the following subparagraphs (A) through (C):

(A) Aliens with extraordinary ability. -- An alien is described in this subparagraph if --

(i) the alien has extraordinary ability in the sciences, arts, education, business, or athletics which has been demonstrated by sustained national or international acclaim and whose achievements have been recognized in the field through extensive documentation,

(ii) the alien seeks to enter the United States to continue work in the area of extraordinary ability, and

(iii) the alien's entry into the United States will substantially benefit prospectively the United States.

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) and legacy Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) have consistently recognized that Congress intended to set a very high standard for individuals seeking immigrant visas as aliens of extraordinary ability. See H.R. 723 101st Cong., 2d Sess. 59 (1990); 56 Fed. Reg. 60897, 60898-99 (Nov. 29, 1991). The term "extraordinary ability" refers only to those individuals in that small percentage who have risen to the very top of the field of endeavor. Id.; 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(2).

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3) requires that the petitioner demonstrate the alien's sustained acclaim and the recognition of his or her achievements in the field. Such acclaim must be established either through evidence of a one-time achievement (that is, a major, international recognized award) or through the submission of qualifying evidence under at least three of the ten categories of evidence listed at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(i)-(x).

In 2010, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit (Ninth Circuit) reviewed the denial of a petition filed under this classification. Kazarian v. USCIS, 596 F.3d 1115 (9th Cir. 2010). Although the court upheld the AAO's decision to deny the petition, the court took issue with the AAO's evaluation of evidence submitted to meet a given evidentiary criterion.¹ With respect to the criteria at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(iv) and (vi), the court concluded that while USCIS may have raised legitimate concerns about the significance of the evidence submitted to meet those two criteria, those concerns should have been raised in a subsequent "final merits determination." Id. at 1121-22.

The court stated that the AAO's evaluation rested on an improper understanding of the regulations. Instead of parsing the significance of evidence as part of the initial inquiry, the court stated that "the proper procedure is to count the types of evidence provided (which the AAO did)," and if the petitioner failed to submit sufficient evidence, "the proper conclusion is that the applicant has failed to satisfy the regulatory requirement of three types of evidence (as the AAO concluded)." Id. at 1122 (citing to 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)).

Thus, Kazarian sets forth a two-part approach where the evidence is first counted and then considered in the context of a final merits determination. In this matter, the AAO will review the evidence under the plain language requirements of each criterion claimed. While counsel asserts on appeal that the director erred in failing to conduct a final merits determination, as the petitioner did not submit qualifying evidence under at least three criteria, the proper conclusion is that the petitioner has failed to satisfy the antecedent regulatory requirement of three types of evidence. Id.

¹ Specifically, the court stated that the AAO had unilaterally imposed novel substantive or evidentiary requirements beyond those set forth in the regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(iv) and 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(vi).

II. ANALYSIS

A. Evidentiary Criteria²

Documentation of the alien's receipt of lesser nationally or internationally recognized prizes or awards for excellence in the field of endeavor.

The director concluded that the petitioner's receipt of the [REDACTED] by the [REDACTED] was qualifying evidence under 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(i). The record does not support this conclusion. The record lacks evidence of the criteria for the award and the expertise of the judges such that the petitioner has established that it is an award for excellence in medicine, rather than recognition of a commitment to freedom and peace through medicine.

Regardless, consistent with the statutory requirement for extensive evidence, the plain language of the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(i) requires the petitioner's receipt of prizes or awards. Significantly, not all of the criteria at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3) are worded in the plural. Specifically, the regulations at 8 C.F.R. §§ 204.5(h)(3)(iv) and (ix) only require service on a single judging panel or a single high salary. When a regulatory criterion wishes to include the singular within the plural, it expressly does so as when it states at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(k)(3)(ii)(B) that evidence of experience must be in the form of "letter(s)." Thus, the AAO can infer that the plural in the remaining regulatory criteria has meaning. In a different context, federal courts have upheld USCIS' ability to interpret significance from whether the singular or plural is used in a regulation. See Maramjaya v. USCIS, Civ. Act. No. 06-2158 (RCL) at 12 (D.C. Cir. March 26, 2008); Snapnames.com Inc. v. Chertoff, 2006 WL 3491005 at *10 (D. Or. Nov. 30, 2006) (upholding an interpretation that the regulatory requirement for "a" bachelor's degree or "a" foreign equivalent degree at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(l)(2) requires a single degree rather than a combination of academic credentials).

The AAO notes that the record contains a certificate from [REDACTED] for "a distinguished paper of the conference." However, neither the petitioner nor counsel asserts that the certificate is evidence under this criterion. Furthermore, there is no evidence that the certificate has any recognition beyond the presenting organization.

In light of the above, the petitioner has not established that he meets the plain language requirements of this regulatory criterion.

² The petitioner does not claim to meet or submit evidence relating to the regulatory categories of evidence not discussed in this decision.

Documentation of the alien's membership in associations in the field for which classification is sought, which require outstanding achievements of their members, as judged by recognized national or international experts in their disciplines or fields.

The director discussed the submitted evidence and found that the petitioner failed to establish that the evidence was qualifying. On appeal, the petitioner does not contest the director's findings for this criterion or offer additional arguments. The AAO, therefore, considers this issue to be abandoned. Sepulveda v. U.S. Att'y Gen., 401 F.3d 1226, 1228 n. 2 (11th Cir. 2005), citing United States v. Cunningham, 161 F.3d 1343, 1344 (11th Cir. 1998); see also Hristov v. Roark, No. 09-CV-27312011, 2011 WL 4711885 at *1, *9 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 30, 2011) (plaintiff's claims were abandoned as he failed to raise them on appeal to the AAO).

Published material about the alien in professional or major trade publications or other major media, relating to the alien's work in the field for which classification is sought. Such evidence shall include the title, date, and author of the material, and any necessary translation.

The director discussed the submitted evidence and found that the petitioner failed to establish that the evidence was qualifying. On appeal, the petitioner does not contest the director's findings for this criterion or offer additional arguments. The AAO, therefore, considers this issue to be abandoned. Id.

Evidence of the alien's original scientific, scholarly, artistic, athletic, or business-related contributions of major significance in the field.

The director discussed the submitted evidence and found that the petitioner failed to establish that the evidence was qualifying. On appeal, counsel asserts that in addition to the two reference letters, the petitioner's "conference paper...was selected as a Distinguished Paper" at the [REDACTED]. The regulations contain a separate criterion regarding the authorship of scholarly articles. 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(vi). If the regulations are to be interpreted with any logic, it must be presumed that the regulation views contributions as a separate evidentiary requirement from scholarly articles.³ The simple fact that the petitioner's findings were presented at a conference does not create a presumption that the findings, upon dissemination in the field, impacted the field, or are otherwise original contributions of major significance. Nevertheless, the presentation of the unpublished paper will be considered under 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(vi). The AAO notes that the certificate was also discussed under the awards criterion above.

[REDACTED] states that the petitioner's

³ Publication and presentations are not sufficient evidence under 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(v) absent evidence that they were of "major significance." Kazarian v. USCIS, 580 F.3d 1030, 1036 (9th Cir. 2009) aff'd in part 596 F.3d 1115 (9th Cir. 2010). In 2010, the Kazarian court reaffirmed its holding that the AAO did not abuse its discretion in finding that the alien had not demonstrated contributions of major significance. 596 F.3d at 1122.

“many scientific breakthroughs” are impressive, that the petitioner’s “research on treating Parkinson[‘s] Disease with oriental medicine initiated the beginning to a possible cure” and that the petitioner “has demonstrated extraordinary talent in clinic experience and unique expertise in developing innovative solutions.” [REDACTED], a licensed acupuncturist, states that the petitioner “was the first to present a successful case of ‘cured’ Parkinson patient [sic],” has “a proven track record of accomplishments” and “play[s] a leading role in the design and development of innovative solutions to many health problems.” However, the record contains no documentary evidence, absent the conference presentation discussed in more detail below, to support the petitioner’s claim that he “cured” one patient of Parkinson’s disease. Furthermore, neither letter demonstrates that the petitioner’s findings have been reproduced and confirmed by other experts and applied in their work. Going on record without supporting documentary evidence is not sufficient for purposes of meeting the burden of proof in these proceedings. Matter of Soffici, 22 I&N Dec. 158, 165 (Comm’r 1998) (citing Matter of Treasure Craft of California, 14 I&N Dec. 190 (Reg’l Comm’r 1972)). Similarly, USCIS need not accept primarily conclusory assertions. 1756, Inc. v. The Attorney General of the United States, 745 F. Supp. 9, 15 (D.C. Dist. 1990).

Moreover, as stated above, all medicine, regardless of origin, falls under the sciences. A contribution in science is apparent from its confirmation and application by other scientists, typically in peer reviewed publications, rather than anecdotal affirmations. Notably, the record contains information from Parkinsons.org affirming that alternative medicine treatments for Parkinson’s disease “are increasingly validated by western medicine,” but the record contains no evidence that the petitioner’s unique methods, as opposed to acupuncture in general, have been so validated. Rather, this website, which acknowledges the lack of placebo control studies of acupuncture for Parkinson’s disease, states only that acupuncture “can assist with sleep disturbances” and “may be effective in increasing feelings of well being and relaxation.” Documents in the record from another website, www.umm.edu, reference a study showing an improvement in Parkinson’s disease from acupuncture treatment, but the website does not reference the petitioner or his methodology. The petitioner’s ability to perform a traditional form of therapy is neither original nor a contribution of major significance. Ultimately, the petitioner must have already made contributions of major significance to meet this criterion, speculation as to a future impact in the field of Parkinson’s treatment or acupuncture practice is insufficient.

The Board of Immigration Appeals (the Board) has stated that testimony should not be disregarded simply because it is “self-serving.” See, e.g., Matter of S-A-, 22 I&N Dec. 1328, 1332 (BIA 2000) (citing cases). The Board also clarified, however: “We not only encourage, but require the introduction of corroborative testimonial and documentary evidence, where available.” Id. If testimonial evidence lacks specificity, detail, or credibility, there is a greater need for the petitioner to submit corroborative evidence. Matter of Y-B-, 21 I&N Dec. 1136 (BIA 1998).

[REDACTED], solicited letters from local colleagues that do not specifically identify contributions or provide specific examples of how those contributions influenced the field are insufficient. Kazarian

v. USCIS, 580 F.3d 1030, 1036 (9th Cir. 2009) aff'd in part 596 F.3d 1115 (9th Cir. 2010).⁴ USCIS may, in its discretion, use as advisory opinions statements submitted as expert testimony. See Matter of Caron International, 19 I&N Dec. 791, 795 (Comm'r. 1988). However, USCIS is ultimately responsible for making the final determination regarding an alien's eligibility for the benefit sought. Id. The submission of letters from experts supporting the petition is not presumptive evidence of eligibility; USCIS may evaluate the content of those letters as to whether they support the alien's eligibility. See id. at 795; see also Matter of V-K-, 24 I&N Dec. 500, n.2 (BIA 2008) (noting that expert opinion testimony does not purport to be evidence as to "fact"). USCIS may even give less weight to an opinion that is not corroborated, in accord with other information or is in any way questionable. Id. at 795; see also Matter of Soffici, 22 I&N Dec. 158, 165 (Comm'r. 1998) (citing Matter of Treasure Craft of California, 14 I&N Dec. 190 (Reg'l. Comm'r. 1972)).

In light of the above, the petitioner has not established that he meets the plain language requirements of this regulatory criterion.

Evidence of the alien's authorship of scholarly articles in the field, in professional or major trade publications or other major media.

The director's decision stated that "[n]o evidence was submitted for this criterion." The AAO notes that in the initial filing and in response to the director's request for evidence, counsel asserted that the petitioner's presentation of his findings at one of several parallel sessions at the [REDACTED] was evidence under 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(h)(3)(v). On appeal, counsel asserts that this presentation qualifies as a scholarly article.

The plain language of the regulation requires the articles to be in professional or major trade publication or other major media. While the record contains evidence of the presentation of the petitioner's findings at the [REDACTED] there is no evidence that the paper has been published. The submitted evidence is not from a journal or conference proceeding publication, but is simply a four page print out of a manuscript. Furthermore, even if the AAO found that the presentation of the paper at a parallel session qualified, which it does not, the plain language of the regulations requires authorship of scholarly articles, in the plural.

In light of the above, the petitioner has not established that he meets the plain language requirements of this regulatory criterion.

B. Summary

As the petitioner did not submit qualifying evidence under at least three criteria, the proper conclusion is that the petitioner has failed to satisfy the antecedent regulatory requirement of three types of evidence.

⁴ In 2010, the Kazarian court reiterated that the AAO's conclusion that "letters from physics professors attesting to [the alien's] contributions in the field" were insufficient was "consistent with the relevant regulatory language." 596 F.3d at 1122.

III. CONCLUSION

The documentation submitted in support of a claim of extraordinary ability must clearly demonstrate that the alien has achieved sustained national or international acclaim and is one of the small percentage who has risen to the very top of the field of endeavor.

Had the petitioner submitted the requisite evidence under at least three evidentiary categories, in accordance with the Kazarian opinion, the next step would be a final merits determination that considers all of the evidence in the context of whether or not the petitioner has demonstrated: (1) a “level of expertise indicating that the individual is one of that small percentage who have risen to the very top of the[ir] field of endeavor” and (2) “that the alien has sustained national or international acclaim and that his or her achievements have been recognized in the field of expertise.” 8 C.F.R. §§ 204.5(h)(2) and (3); see also Kazarian, 596 F.3d at 1119-20. While the AAO concludes that the evidence is not indicative of a level of expertise consistent with the small percentage at the very top of the field or sustained national or international acclaim, the AAO need not explain that conclusion in a final merits determination.⁵ Rather, the proper conclusion is that the petitioner has failed to satisfy the antecedent regulatory requirement of three types of evidence. Id. at 1122.

The petitioner has not established eligibility pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(A) of the Act and the petition may not be approved.

The burden of proof in visa petition proceedings remains entirely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. Here, the petitioner has not sustained that burden. Accordingly, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.

⁵ The AAO maintains de novo review of all questions of fact and law. See Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004). In any future proceeding, the AAO maintains the jurisdiction to conduct a final merits determination as the office that made the last decision in this matter. 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(1)(ii). See also section 103(a)(1) of the Act; section 204(b) of the Act; DHS Delegation Number 0150.1 (effective March 1, 2003); 8 C.F.R. § 2.1 (2003); 8 C.F.R. § 103.1(f)(3)(iii) (2003); Matter of Aurelio, 19 I&N Dec. 458, 460 (BIA 1987) (holding that legacy INS, now USCIS, is the sole authority with the jurisdiction to decide visa petitions).