DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, Nebraska Service Center. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The petitioner is a corporation that seeks to employ the beneficiary in the position of branch manager. Accordingly, the petitioner endeavors to classify the beneficiary as an employment-based immigrant pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(C) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(1)(C), as a multinational executive or manager. The director denied the petition, concluding that the petitioner was ineligible based on the following findings: (1) the beneficiary would not be employed in the United States in a qualifying managerial or executive capacity; and (2) the petitioner failed to establish that the beneficiary was employed abroad in a qualifying managerial or executive capacity.

On appeal, counsel submitted a properly executed Form I-290B generally disputing the director's decision. Counsel marked Box B on the Form I-290B, indicating her intention to provide a brief and/or additional evidence within 30 days of filing the appeal. The record shows no evidence that the record has since been supplemented in accordance with counsel's original intent. Therefore, the record will be considered complete as presently constituted.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v) states, in pertinent part:

An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

In visa petition proceedings, the burden of proving eligibility for the benefit sought remains entirely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. Inasmuch as the petitioner has failed to identify specifically an erroneous conclusion of law or a statement of fact in this proceeding, the petitioner has not sustained that burden. Therefore, the appeal will be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
