DISCUSSION: The Director, Texas Service Center, denied the employment-based immigrant visa petition, which is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is an e-commerce internet technology business. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a database administrator pursuant to sections 203(b)(3)(A)(i) and (ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(3)(A)(i) and (ii). As required by statute, a labor certification accompanied the petition. Upon reviewing the petition, the director determined that the petitioner failed to demonstrate that the beneficiary satisfied the minimum level of education stated on the labor certification. The director determined that the beneficiary's credentials could not be accepted as a foreign equivalent degree to a four-year U.S. bachelor's degree in computer science.

The AAO issued a Request for Evidence (RFE) and a Notice of Derogatory Information (NODI) on June 15, 2011 of the petitioner's intent concerning the actual minimum educational requirements of the proffered position.¹ The AAO explained that it consulted a database that did not equate the beneficiary's credentials to a U.S. baccalaureate degree and the evidence in the record of proceeding as currently constituted did not support a determination that the petitioner intended the actual minimum requirements of the proffered position to include alternatives to a bachelor degree such as the credentials held by the beneficiary. The AAO solicited evidence of how the petitioner expressed its actual minimum educational requirements to the United States Department of Labor (DOL) during the labor certification process.

The AAO also requested in the RFE that the petitioner provide evidence of its ability to pay the proffered wage to the beneficiary during the relevant years, and its ability to pay wages to the multiple beneficiaries (13) whose immigrant petitions were also pending.

In the RFE, the AAO specifically alerted the petitioner that failure to respond to the RFE would result in dismissal since the AAO could not substantively adjudicate the appeal without the information requested. The failure to submit requested evidence that precludes a material line of inquiry shall be grounds for denying the petition. See 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(14).

Because the petitioner failed to respond to the RFE and NODI, the AAO is dismissing the appeal.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
