INSTRUCTIONS:

Enclosed please find the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All of the documents related to this matter have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Please be advised that any further inquiry that you might have concerning your case must be made to that office.

If you believe the law was inappropriately applied by us in reaching our decision, or you have additional information that you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reconsider or a motion to reopen. The specific requirements for filing such a request can be found at 8 C.F.R. § 103.5. All motions must be submitted to the office that originally decided your case by filing a Form I-290B, Notice of Appeal or Motion, with a fee of $630. Please be aware that 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(1)(i) requires that any motion must be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reconsider or reopen.

Thank you,

Perry Rhew
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center (director), and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a retail clothing store. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a bookkeeper. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by a labor certification application approved by the United States Department of Labor (DOL). The director determined that the petitioner had not established that the beneficiary is qualified to perform the duties of the proffered position with two years of qualifying employment experience, and that the petitioner failed to establish that the beneficiary's former business existed and conducted regular, systematic, and continuous provision of goods and services. The director denied the petition accordingly.

The record shows that the appeal is properly filed and timely and makes a specific allegation of error in law or fact. The procedural history in this case is documented by the record and incorporated into the decision. Further elaboration of the procedural history will be made only as necessary.

As set forth in the director's February 18, 2009 denial, the issue in this case whether or not the petitioner has demonstrated that the beneficiary is qualified to perform the duties of the proffered position. The director determined that the beneficiary did not meet the minimum requirements for the classification requested.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

The petitioner must demonstrate that, on the priority date, the beneficiary had the qualifications stated on its labor certification application, as certified by the DOL and submitted with the instant petition. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Acting Reg'l Comm'r 1977). Here, the labor certification application was accepted on May 2, 2007.

The AAO conducts appellate review on a de novo basis. See Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004). The AAO considers all pertinent evidence in the record, including new evidence properly submitted upon appeal.[1] On appeal, counsel submits a Certificate of Employment; Declaration of Contract of Realty Rent lease agreement; and, receipts from Counsel also submits documents previously submitted with the initial filing. The record does not contain any other evidence relevant to the beneficiary's qualifications.

[1] The submission of additional evidence on appeal is allowed by the instructions to the Form I-290B, which are incorporated into the regulations by the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(a)(1). The record in the instant case provides no reason to preclude consideration of any of the documents newly submitted on appeal. See Matter of Soriano, 19 I&N Dec. 764 (BIA 1988).

On appeal, Counsel contends that the director violated 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8) by failing to request further evidence regarding the beneficiary's qualifications and experience before denying the petition. The cited regulation requires the director to request additional evidence in instances "where there is no evidence of ineligibility, and initial evidence or eligibility information is missing." Id. The director is not required to issue a request for further information in every potentially deniable case. If the director determines that the initial evidence supports a decision of denial, the cited regulation does not require solicitation of further documentation.

Furthermore, even if the director had committed a procedural error by failing to solicit further evidence, it is not clear what remedy would be appropriate beyond the appeal process itself. The petitioner has in fact supplemented the record on appeal, and therefore it would serve no useful purpose to remand the case simply to afford the petitioner the opportunity to supplement the record with new evidence.

To determine whether a beneficiary is eligible for an employment based immigrant visa, United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) must examine whether the alien's credentials meet the requirements set forth in the labor certification. In evaluating the beneficiary's qualifications, USCIS must look to the job offer portion of the labor certification to determine the required qualifications for the position. USCIS may not ignore a term of the labor certification, nor may it impose additional requirements. See Matter of Silver Dragon Chinese Restaurant, 19 I&N Dec. 401, 406 (Comm'r 1986). See also, Madany v. Smith, 696 F.2d 1008, (D.C. Cir. 1983); K.R.K. Irvine, Inc. v. Landon, 699 F.2d 1006 (9th Cir. 1983); Stewart Infra-Red Commissary of Massachusetts, Inc. v. Coomey, 661 F.2d 1 (1st Cir. 1981). According to the plain terms of the labor certification, the applicant must have twenty-four months of experience in the job offered.

The beneficiary set forth her credentials on the labor certification and signed her name under a declaration that the contents of the form are true and correct under the penalty of perjury. On the section of the labor certification eliciting information of the beneficiary's work experience, she represented that she has over three years of experience as a bookkeeper/owner for . She does not provide any additional information concerning her employment background on that form.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(l)(3) provides:

> (ii) Other documentation—
> > (A) General. Any requirements of training or experience for skilled workers, professionals, or other workers must be supported by letters from trainers or employers giving the name, address, and title of the trainer or employer, and a description of the training received or the experience of the alien.
> > (B) Skilled workers. If the petition is for a skilled worker, the petition must be accompanied by evidence that the alien meets the educational, training or > experience, and any other requirements of the individual labor certification, meets the requirements for Schedule A designation, or meets the requirements for the Labor Market Information Pilot Program occupation designation. The minimum requirements for this classification are at least two years of training or experience.

The petitioner submitted two Certificates of Employment dated April 11, 2005 and March 18, 2009 signed by the beneficiary, and a Declaration dated March 16, 2008 of These documents are self-serving and do not provide independent, objective evidence of her prior work experience. See Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582, 591-592 (BIA 1988)(states that the petitioner must resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent, objective evidence). Going on record without supporting documentary evidence is not sufficient for purposes of meeting the burden of proof in these proceedings. Matter of Soffici, 22 I&N Dec. 158, 165 (Comm'r 1998) (citing Matter of Treasure Craft of California, 14 I&N Dec. 190 (Reg'l Comm'r 1972)).

On appeal, the petitioner submitted a Certificate of Close of Business; a Contract of Realty Rent; and, various receipts from the The Contract of Realty Rent appears to be for an apartment or house, and states in Art.2 that the lease shall be from October 6, 2001 to October 5, 2004. However, in Art.1, it states the remaining balance shall be paid on April 8, 2008. There is no explanation for this inconsistency in the record. It is incumbent on the petitioner to resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent objective evidence, and attempts to explain or reconcile such inconsistencies, absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth, in fact, lies, will not suffice. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582, 591-592 (BIA 1988).

The evidence submitted may establish that the existed, and that the business was registered in the beneficiary's name, however, it does not establish that the beneficiary actually was employed by this company or that she acquired experience calculating employee wages, reconciling bank statements, or preparing tax reports in compliance with U.S. state and federal procedures.

The petitioner failed to submit primary or secondary evidence of the beneficiary's qualifications and work experience. The regulation 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(2)(i) states that if primary and secondary evidence does not exist or cannot be obtained, the petitioner must demonstrate "the unavailability of both the required document and relevant secondary evidence, and submit two or more affidavits, sworn to or affirmed by persons who are not parties to the petition who have direct personal knowledge of the event and circumstances." In the instant case, counsel did not submit two or more affidavits by persons who are not parties to the petition with direct personal knowledge of the beneficiary's employment with or her duties associated with such employment.

Going on record without supporting documentary evidence is not sufficient for purposes of meeting the burden of proof in these proceedings. Matter of Soffici, 22 I&N Dec. 158, 165 (Comm. 1998) (citing Matter of Treasure Craft of California, 14 I&N Dec. 190 (Reg. Comm. 1972)).

The AAO affirms the director's decision that the preponderance of the evidence does not demonstrate that the beneficiary acquired two years of experience from the evidence submitted into this record of proceeding. The evidence may show that a business by the name of was registered in the beneficiary's name. However, the evidence does not establish the beneficiary's duties, or the experience she gained, while employed by There is no evidence to support the beneficiary has twenty-four months of experience performing the duties associated with the proffered position of bookkeeper. Thus, the petitioner has not demonstrated that the beneficiary is qualified to perform the duties of the proffered position such as calculating employee wages and preparing checks and tax reports in compliance with state and federal procedures and regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
