PETITION: Immigrant Petition for Alien Worker as a Skilled Worker or Professional Pursuant to Section 203(b)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(3)

ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER:

INSTRUCTIONS:

Enclosed please find the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All of the documents related to this matter have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Please be advised that any further inquiry that you might have concerning your case must be made to that office.

If you believe the AAO inappropriately applied the law in reaching its decision, or you have additional information that you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reconsider or a motion to reopen in accordance with the instructions on Form I-290B, Notice of Appeal or Motion, with a fee of $630. The specific requirements for filing such a motion can be found at 8 C.F.R. § 103.5. Do not file any motion directly with the AAO. Please be aware that 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(1)(i) requires any motion to be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reconsider or reopen.

Thank you,

Ron Rosenberg
Acting Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: On July 1, 2002, United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), Vermont Service Center (VSC), received an Immigrant Petition for Alien Worker, Form I-140, from the petitioner. The employment-based immigrant visa petition was initially approved by the VSC director on March 21, 2003. The director of the Texas Service Center (the director), however, revoked the approval of the immigrant petition on May 27, 2009, and the petitioner subsequently appealed the director's decision to revoke the petition's approval to the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO). The director's decision will be withdrawn. The petition will be remanded.

Section 205 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1155, provides that "[t]he Attorney General [now Secretary, Department of Homeland Security], may, at any time, for what [she] deems to be good and sufficient cause, revoke the approval of any petition approved by [her] under section 204." The realization by the director that the petition was approved in error may be good and sufficient cause for revoking the approval. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582, 590 (BIA 1988).

The petitioner is a restaurant. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a cook pursuant to section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(3)(A)(i).¹ As required by statute, the petition is submitted along with an approved Form ETA 750 labor certification. As stated earlier, this petition was approved on March 21, 2003 by the VSC, but that approval was revoked in May 2009. The director determined that the petitioner failed to follow the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) recruitment procedures in connection with the approved labor certification application and that the documents submitted in response to the director's Notice of Intent to Revoke (NOIR) were in themselves a willful misrepresentation of material facts, constituting fraud. The director also generally questioned whether the beneficiary had the experience required by the terms of the labor certification. Accordingly, the director revoked the approval of the petition under the authority of 8 C.F.R. § 205.1.

On appeal, counsel for the petitioner² contends that the director has improperly revoked the approval of the petition. Specifically, counsel asserts that the director did not have any good and sufficient

² The Form I-290B appeal was filed by [REDACTED] as counsel for the petitioner and included a properly executed Form G-28 Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative. She will be referred to as counsel throughout the decision. Previous counsel, [REDACTED] will be referred to by name. The AAO notes that [REDACTED] was suspended from the practice of law before the Immigration Courts, Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA), and Department of Homeland Security (DHS) for a period of three years from March 1, 2012 to February 28, 2015.

In response to a Notice of Intent to Dismiss and Derogatory Information (NOID/NDI), issued by the AAO on November 29, 2012, the beneficiary's counsel, [REDACTED] submitted a Form G-28.

cause as required by section 205 of the Act; 8 U.S.C. § 1155 to revoke the approval of the petition. Counsel argues that the petitioner did comply with the DOL recruitment requirements and that the beneficiary possessed the minimum requirements required on the ETA 750 prior to the filing of the labor certification application.

The record shows that the appeal is properly filed, timely and makes a specific allegation of error in law or fact. The AAO conducts appellate review on a de novo basis. See Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004). The AAO considers all pertinent evidence in the record, including new evidence properly submitted upon appeal.³

Although not raised by counsel, as a procedural matter, the AAO finds that 8 C.F.R. § 205.1 only applies to automatic revocation and is not the proper authority to be used to revoke the approval of the petition in this instant proceeding. Under 8 C.F.R. § 205.1(a)(3)(iii), a petition is automatically revoked if (A) the labor certification is invalidated pursuant to 20 C.F.R. § 656; (B) the petitioner or the beneficiary dies; (C) the petitioner withdraws the petition in writing; or (D) if the petitioner is no longer in business. Here, the labor certification has not been invalidated; neither the petitioner nor the beneficiary has died; the petitioner has not withdrawn the petition; nor has the petitioner gone out of business. Therefore, the approval of the petition cannot be automatically revoked. The director's erroneous citation of the applicable regulation is withdrawn. Nonetheless, as the director does have revocation authority under 8 C.F.R. § 205.2, the director's denial will be considered under that provision under the AAO's de novo review authority.

The threshold issue on appeal is whether the director adequately advised the petitioner of the basis for revocation of approval of the petition. As noted above, the Secretary of DHS has the authority to revoke the approval of any petition approved by her under section 204 for good and sufficient cause. See section 205 of the Act; 8 U.S.C. § 1155. This means that notice must be provided to the petitioner before a previously approved petition can be revoked. More specifically, the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 205.2 reads:

(a) General. Any [USCIS] officer authorized to approve a petition under section 204 of the Act may revoke the approval of that petition upon notice to the petitioner on any ground other than those specified in § 205.1 when the necessity for the revocation comes to the attention of this [USCIS]. (emphasis added).

Further, the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(16) states:

[REDACTED] is not recognized by the AAO as counsel for the petitioner, but will be provided a courtesy copy of this decision.

³ The submission of additional evidence on appeal is allowed by the instructions to the Form I-290B, which are incorporated into the regulations by the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(a)(1). The record in the instant case provides no reason to preclude consideration of any of the documents newly submitted on appeal. See Matter of Soriano, 19 I&N Dec. 764 (BIA 1988).

(i) Derogatory information unknown to petitioner or applicant. If the decision will be adverse to the applicant or petitioner and is based on derogatory information considered by [USCIS] and of which the applicant or petitioner is unaware, he/she shall be advised of this fact and offered an opportunity to rebut the information and present information in his/her own behalf before the decision is rendered, except as provided in paragraphs (b)(16)(ii), (iii), and (iv) of this section. Any explanation, rebuttal, or information presented by or in behalf of the applicant or petitioner shall be included in the record of proceeding.

Moreover, Matter of Arias, 19 I&N Dec. 568 (BIA 1988); and Matter of Estime, 19 I&N Dec. 450 (BIA 1987), provide that:

A notice of intention to revoke the approval of a visa petition is properly issued for "good and sufficient cause" when the evidence of record at the time of issuance, if unexplained and un rebutted, would warrant a denial of the visa petition based upon the petitioner's failure to meet his burden of proof. However, where a notice of intention to revoke is based upon an unsupported statement, revocation of the visa petition cannot be sustained.

Here, in the NOIR dated March 11, 2009, the director wrote:

The Service is in receipt of information revealing the existence of fraudulent information in the petitions with Alien Employment Certificates (ETA 750) and/or the work experience letters in a significant number of cases submitted to USCIS by counsel for the Petitioner in the reviewed files.

The director advised the petitioner in the NOIR that the instant case might involve fraud. The director specifically asked the petitioner to submit additional evidence to demonstrate that it had complied with all of the DOL recruiting requirements. The director also asked the petitioner to submit an original letter reaffirming its intent to employ the beneficiary in the proffered job and evidence that the beneficiary met the minimum experience requirements.

The AAO finds that while the director appropriately reopened the approval of the petition by issuing the NOIR, the director's NOIR was deficient in that it did not specifically give the petitioner notice of the derogatory information specific to the current proceeding. In the NOIR, the director questioned the beneficiary's qualifications and indicated that the petitioner had not properly advertised for the position. The NOIR neither provided nor referred to specific evidence or information relating to the petitioner's failure to comply with DOL recruitment or to the beneficiary's lack of qualifications in the present case. The director did not state which recruitment procedures were defective. Without specifying or making available evidence specific to the petition in this case, the petitioner can have no meaningful opportunity to rebut or respond to that evidence. See Ghaly v. INS, 48 F.3d 1426, 1431 (7th Cir. 1995). Because of insufficient notice to the petitioner of derogatory information, the director's decision will be withdrawn.

Another issue raised on appeal is whether the director properly concluded that the petitioner did not comply with the recruitment procedures of the DOL. The director indicated that the petitioner did not conduct good faith recruitment and found that the petitioner had engaged in fraud or material misrepresentation with respect to the recruitment process. The AAO disagrees. The record does not show inconsistencies or anomalies in the recruitment process that would justify the issuance of a NOIR based on the criteria of Matter of S & B-C-, 9 I&N Dec. 436, 447 (A.G. 1961). Therefore, the director's conclusion that the petitioner did not comply with DOL requirements is withdrawn.

The AAO will next address the director's finding that the petitioner engaged in fraud and/or material misrepresentation. On appeal, counsel contends that the director's finding of fraud or willful misrepresentation against the petitioner was arbitrary and based on a USCIS investigation of other petitioners that had been represented by the same counsel; Mr. [REDACTED]

With regard to immigration fraud, the Act provides immigration officers with the authority to administer oaths, consider evidence, and further provides that any person who knowingly or willfully gives false evidence or swears to any false statement shall be guilty of perjury. Section 287(b) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1357(b). Additionally, the Secretary of DHS has delegated to USCIS the authority to investigate alleged civil and criminal violations of the immigration laws, including application fraud, make recommendations for prosecution, and take other "appropriate action." DHS Delegation Number 0150.1 at para. (2)(I).

The administrative findings in an immigration proceeding must include specific findings of fraud or material misrepresentation for any issue of fact that is material to eligibility for the requested immigration benefit. Within the adjudication of the visa petition, a finding of fraud or material misrepresentation will undermine the probative value of the evidence and lead to a reevaluation of the reliability and sufficiency of the remaining evidence. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. at 591-592.

Outside of the basic adjudication of visa eligibility, there are many critical functions of DHS that hinge on a finding of fraud or material misrepresentation. For example, the Act provides that an alien is inadmissible to the United States if that alien seeks to procure, has sought to procure, or has procured a visa, admission, or other immigration benefits by fraud or willfully misrepresenting a material fact. Section 212(a)(6)(C) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182. Additionally, the regulations state that the willful failure to provide full and truthful information requested by USCIS constitutes a failure to maintain nonimmigrant status. 8 C.F.R. § 214.1(f). For these provisions to be effective, USCIS is required to enter a factual finding of fraud or material misrepresentation into the administrative record.⁴

⁴ It is important to note that, while it may present the opportunity to enter an administrative finding of fraud, the immigrant visa petition is not the appropriate forum for finding an alien inadmissible. See Matter of O, 8 I&N Dec. 295 (BIA 1959). Instead, the alien may be found inadmissible at a later date when he or she subsequently applies for admission into the United States or applies for adjustment of status to permanent resident status. See sections 212(a) and 245(a) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. §§ 1182(a) and 1255(a). Nevertheless, the AAO and USCIS have the authority to enter a fraud finding, if during the course of adjudication, the record of proceedings discloses fraud or a

Section 204(b) of the Act states, in pertinent part, that:

After an investigation of the facts in each case . . . the [Secretary of Homeland Security] shall, if he determines that the facts stated in the petition are true and that the alien . . . in behalf of whom the petition is made is an immediate relative specified in section 201(b) or is eligible for preference under subsection (a) or (b) of section 203, approve the petition

Pursuant to section 204(b) of the Act, USCIS has the authority to issue a determination regarding whether the facts stated in a petition filed pursuant to section 203(b) of the Act are true. Section 212(a)(6)(C) of the Act governs misrepresentation and states the following: "Misrepresentation. – (i) In general. – Any alien who, by fraud or willfully misrepresenting a material fact, seeks to procure (or has sought to procure or has procured) a visa, other documentation, or admission into the United States or other benefit provided under this Act is inadmissible."

The Attorney General has held that a misrepresentation made in connection with an application for a visa or other document, or with entry into the United States, is material if either:

- (1) the alien is excludable on the true facts, or (2) the misrepresentation tends to shut off a line of inquiry which is relevant to the alien's eligibility and which might well have resulted in a proper determination that he be excluded.

Matter of S & B-C, 9 I&N Dec. at 447. Accordingly, the materiality test has three parts. First, if the record shows that the alien is inadmissible on the true facts, then the misrepresentation is material. Id. at 448. If the foreign national would not be inadmissible on the true facts, then the second and third questions must be addressed. The second question is whether the misrepresentation shut off a line of inquiry relevant to the alien's admissibility. Id. Third, if the relevant line of inquiry has been cut off, then it must be determined whether the inquiry might have resulted in a proper determination that the foreign national should have been excluded. Id. at 449.

Furthermore, a finding of misrepresentation may lead to invalidation of the Form ETA 750. See 20 C.F.R. § 656.31(d) regarding labor certification applications involving fraud or willful misrepresentation:

Finding of fraud or willful misrepresentation. If as referenced in Sec. 656.30(d), a court, the DHS or the Department of State determines there was fraud or willful misrepresentation involving a labor certification application, the application will be considered to be invalidated, processing is terminated, a notice of the termination and the reason therefore is sent by the Certifying Officer to the employer, attorney/agent as appropriate.

Here, as noted above, the evidence of record currently does not support the director's finding that the petitioner failed to follow recruitment procedures. Similarly, there has been an insufficient development of the facts upon which the director can make a determination of fraud or willful misrepresentation in connection with the labor certification process based on the criteria of Matter of S & B-C-, 9 I&N Dec. at 447. Thus, the director's finding of fraud or misrepresentation is withdrawn. In summary, the AAO withdraws the director's conclusion that the petitioner failed to follow DOL recruitment requirements. The AAO also withdraws the petitioner's finding of fraud and material misrepresentation against the petitioner.

Nonetheless, the petitioner must establish its ability to pay the proffered wage from the priority date, as well as that the beneficiary had the requisite work experience in the job offered before the priority date. An application or petition that fails to comply with the technical requirements of the law may be denied by the AAO even if the Service Center does not identify all of the grounds for denial in the initial decision. See Spencer Enterprises, Inc. v. United States, 229 F. Supp. 2d 1025, 1043 (E.D. Cal. 2001), aff'd, 345 F.3d 683 (9th Cir. 2003); see also Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004) (noting that the AAO conducts appellate review on a de novo basis).

With respect to the petitioner's ability to pay, the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(g)(2), in pertinent part, provides:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

In the instant case, the ETA 750 labor certification was accepted for processing on April 30, 2001. The rate of pay or the proffered wage specified on the ETA 750 is $13.01 per hour or $23,678.20 per year based on the indicated 35 hour work week.⁵ The record contains Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Forms W-2 evidencing that the petitioner paid the beneficiary $25,535 in 2001. Thus, the petitioner has established the ability to pay the proffered wage in 2001. However, there is no evidence in the record to establish that the petitioner employed the beneficiary or that it had the ability to pay the proffered wage from 2002 onwards. In addition, USCIS records show that the petitioner sponsored four additional workers during the same time. The petitioner must demonstrate its ability to pay the proffered wage to all sponsored workers from the priority date onwards.

⁵ The total hours per week indicated on the approved Form ETA 750 is 35 hours. This is permitted so long as the job opportunity is for a permanent and full-time position. See 20 C.F.R. § 656.3; 656.10(c)(10). The DOL Memo indicates that full-time means at least 35 hours or more per week. See Memo, Farmer, Admin. for Reg'l. Mngm't., Div. of Foreign Labor Certification, DOL Field Memo No. 48-94 (May 16, 1994).

Concerning the beneficiary's qualifications for the position, the AAO finds that the record does not support the petitioner's contention that the beneficiary had the requisite work experience in the job offered before the priority date. Consistent with Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977), the petitioner must demonstrate, among other things, that, on the priority date, the beneficiary had all of the qualifications stated on the Form ETA 750 as certified by the DOL and submitted with the petition.

Here, as stated earlier, the Form ETA 750 was filed and accepted for processing by the DOL on April 30, 2001. The name of the job title or the position for which the petitioner seeks to hire is "cook." Under the job description, section 13 of the Form ETA 750, part A, the petitioner wrote, "Prepare all kinds of dishes." Under section 14 of the Form ETA 750A the petitioner specifically required each applicant for this position to have a minimum of two years of work experience in the job offered.

On the Form ETA 750, part B, signed by the beneficiary on March 15, 2001, he represented that he worked 35 hours a week at [REDACTED] in Brazil as a cook from December 1988 to April 1993. The record contains a letter of employment dated March 23, 2009 from [REDACTED] owner of [REDACTED]⁶ stating that the beneficiary worked there from December 18, 1988 until April 6, 1993. The March 23, 2009 letter also stated that it served to verify the letter submitted March 26, 2001, which stated that the beneficiary worked as a cook for [REDACTED] from December 18, 1988 to April 6, 1993. However, the letters do not meet the requirements in the regulations as they do not list a specific description of the duties performed by the beneficiary. See 8 C.F.R. § 204.5(g)(1) and (l)(3)(ii)(A).

On November 29, 2012, the AAO sent a Notice of Intent to Dismiss and Derogatory Information (NOID/NDI) to the petitioner indicating that according to records kept by the Massachusetts Secretary of the Commonwealth, Corporations Divisions, the petitioner's shareholders authorized the dissolution of the organization on December 31, 2011 and the organization was dissolved on March 13, 2012. If the petitioner is no longer in business, then no bona fide job offer exists, and the petition and appeal are therefore moot. Even if the appeal could be otherwise sustained, the approval of the petition would be subject to automatic revocation due to the termination of the business. See 8 C.F.R. § 205.1(a)(iii)(D). The petitioner did not respond to the NOID/NDI or submit additional evidence.

However, in response to the AAO's NOID/NDI, the beneficiary's counsel submitted a letter dated December 19, 2012 from [REDACTED], owner of [REDACTED], stating that the beneficiary is currently employed by that business. The beneficiary's counsel asserts that the beneficiary is allowed to commence a new employment pursuant to the American Competitiveness in the Twenty-First Century Act of 2000 (AC21). The AAO does not agree that the terms of AC21 make it so that the instant immigrant petition can be approved despite the fact that the petitioner has not demonstrated its eligibility. AC21 allows an application for adjustment of status to be approved despite the fact that the initial job offer is no longer valid. The language of AC21 states that the I-140 "shall remain valid" with respect to a new job offer for purposes of the beneficiary's application for adjustment of status despite the fact that he or she no longer intends to work for the petitioning entity provided (1) the application for adjustment of status based upon the initial visa petition must have been pending for more than 180 days and (2) the new job offer the new employer must be for a "same or similar" job. A plain reading of the phrase "will remain valid" suggests that the petition must be valid prior to any consideration of whether or not the adjustment application was pending more than 180 days and/or the new position is same or similar.

It is true that, absent revocation, the beneficiary would have been eligible for adjustment of status with a new employer provided that "the new job is in the same or similar occupation as that for which the petition was filed." However, critical to section 106(c) of AC21, the petition must be "valid" to begin with if it is to "remain valid with respect to a new job." Section 204(j) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1154(j) (emphasis added).⁷

Section 106(c) states that the underlying I-140 petition "shall remain valid with respect to a new job if the individual changes jobs or employers if the new job is in the same or a similar occupational classification as the job for which the petition was filed." Pub. L. No. 106-313, § 106(c), 114 Stat. 1251, 1254 (Oct. 17, 2000); § 204(j) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1154(j). Thus, the statute simply permits the beneficiary to change jobs and remain eligible to adjust based on a prior approved petition if the processing times reach or exceed 180 days.

There is no evidence that Congress intended to confer anything more than a benefit to beneficiaries of long delayed adjustment applications. In other words, the plain language of the statute indicates that Congress intended to provide the alien, as a "long delayed applicant for adjustment," with the ability to change jobs if the individual's application for adjustment of status took 180 days or more to process. Thus, the only possible meaning for the term "remains valid" was that the underlying petition was approved and would not be invalidated by the fact that the job offer was no longer a valid offer. See

⁷ Furthermore, it would subvert the statutory scheme of the U.S. immigration laws to find that a petition is valid when that petition was never approved or, even if it was approved, if it was filed on behalf of an alien that was never entitled to the requested immigrant classification. We will not construe section 204(j) of the Act in a manner that would allow ineligible aliens to gain immigrant status simply by filing visa petitions and adjustment applications, thereby increasing USCIS backlogs, in the hopes that the application might remain unadjudicated for 180 days. In a case pertaining to the revocation of an I-140 petition, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals determined that the government's authority to revoke a Form I-140 petition under section 205 of the Act survived portability under section 204(j) of the Act. Herrera v. USCIS, 571 F.3d 881 (9th Cir. 2009). Citing a 2005 AAO decision, the Ninth Circuit reasoned that in order to remain valid under section 204(j) of the Act, the I-140 petition must have been valid from the start. The Ninth Circuit stated that if the plaintiff's argument prevailed, an alien who exercised portability would be shielded from revocation, but an alien who remained with the petitioning employer would not share the same immunity. The Ninth Circuit noted that it was not the intent of Congress to grant extra benefits to those who changed jobs.

Matter of Al Wazzan, 25 I&N Dec. 359 (AAO 2010). The AAO concludes that is not the case here, as the underlying petition has been revoked.

There is no evidence that Congress intended to confer anything more than a benefit to beneficiaries of long delayed adjustment applications. In other words, the plain language of the statute indicates that Congress intended to provide the alien, as a "long delayed applicant for adjustment," with the ability to change jobs if the individual's I-485 took 180 days or more to process. Section 106(c) of AC21 does not mention the rights of a subsequent employer and does not provide other employers with the ability to take over already adjudicated immigrant petitions.

In view of the foregoing, the previous decision of the director will be withdrawn. The petition is remanded to the director for review and consideration of the additional issues that impact the petitioner's eligibility for the visa that were not initially identified by the director. The director may issue a new notice of intent to revoke approval of the petition and may request any additional evidence considered pertinent. Similarly, the petitioner may provide additional evidence within a reasonable period of time to be determined by the director. Upon receipt of all the evidence, the director may review the entire record and enter a new decision. If the new decision is contrary to the AAO's findings, it should be certified to the AAO for review.

ORDER: The director's decision to revoke the previously approved petition is withdrawn. The petition is remanded to the director for further action in accordance with the foregoing and entry of a new decision.
