Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The employment-based immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be rejected.

As the alien in this case listed himself in Part 1 of the Form I-360 and signed the form in Part 10, he is considered to be a self-petitioner. He seeks classification as a special immigrant religious worker pursuant to section 203(b)(4) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(4), to perform services as a church relations specialist. The director determined that the self-petitioner had not established that the position qualifies as that of a religious worker and that the self-petitioner worked continuously in a qualifying religious occupation or vocation for two full years immediately preceding the filing of the visa petition.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(iii) states, in pertinent part:

(B) Meaning of affected party. For purposes of this section and §§ 103.4 and 103.5 of this part, affected party (in addition to the Service) means the person or entity with legal standing in a proceeding. It does not include the beneficiary of a visa petition.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(2)(v) states:

Improperly filed appeal – (A) Appeal filed by person or entity not entitled to file it – (1) Rejection without refund of filing fee. An appeal filed by a person or entity not entitled to file it must be rejected as improperly filed. In such a case, any filing fee the Service has accepted will not be refunded.

Only an affected party, a person or entity with legal standing, may file an appeal of an unfavorable decision. The Form I-290B, Notice of Appeal to the Administrative Appeals Unit, is signed by Darren Blankenship. The record does not contain a Form G-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative authorizing [REDACTED] to act on behalf of the petitioner, and [REDACTED] is not recognized as an authorized or accredited representative pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 292.1(a). The appeal has not been filed by the petitioner, or by any entity with legal standing in the proceeding. Therefore, the appeal has not been properly filed and must be rejected.

ORDER: The appeal is rejected.
