DISCUSSION: The Director, Vermont Service Center, (“the director”) denied the application for T nonimmigrant status and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (“AAO”) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed and the application will remain denied.

The applicant seeks nonimmigrant classification under section 101(a)(15)(T)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (“the Act”), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(T)(i), as a victim of a severe form of trafficking in persons. The director denied the application for failure to establish that the applicant is a victim of a severe form of trafficking in persons, is physically present in the United States on account of such trafficking, and has complied with any reasonable request for assistance from a law enforcement agency in the investigation or prosecution of such trafficking or a related crime.

On appeal, counsel submits a Notice of Appeal (Form I-290B), indicating that he will not submit a supplemental brief or additional evidence.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v) states, in pertinent part:

Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

Counsel states at Part 3 of the Form I-290B that the director erred in reaching his conclusions on the applicant’s eligibility for T nonimmigrant classification. However, counsel fails to identify either on the Form I-290B or through the submission of supplemental evidence any specific erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact in the director’s decision. Accordingly, the appeal must be summarily dismissed.

As in all visa classification proceedings, the applicant bears the burden of proof to establish his eligibility for T nonimmigrant status. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361; 8 C.F.R. § 214.11(l)(2). Here, that burden has not been met.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed. The application remains denied.
