All motions must be submitted to the office that originally decided your case by filing a Form I-290B, Notice of Appeal or Motion, with a fee of $585. Perry Rhew

Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The service center director denied the nonimmigrant visa petition and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The petitioner is a corporation engaged in the business of computer consulting and software development. To employ the beneficiary in what it designates as a programmer analyst position, the petitioner seeks to classify him as a nonimmigrant worker in a specialty occupation pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b).

The director denied the petition on three independent grounds, namely, his determinations that the petitioner failed to (1) provide the itinerary required by the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(2)(i)(B) when a proffered H-1B position is to be performed at more than one location; (2) provide a Labor Condition Application that corresponds to the petition; and (3) establish that the proffered position is a specialty occupation as that term is defined by section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(i)(1), and the implementing regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4).

On October 5, 2009, counsel for the petitioner submitted a Form I-290B (Notice of Appeal or Motion) without a brief or evidence. The only comment that counsel submits regarding the basis of the appeal is the following statement at Part 3 of the Form I-290B:

We will submit additional supporting documents to prove that the petitioner is the real employer and [that] the position offered is [a] specialty occupation. Additional documents will include [a] vendor letter and [an] end-client letter.

Although counsel checked box B at section 2 of the Form I-290B, indicating that he would send a brief and/or evidence within 30 days, the AAO has received neither. Accordingly, the record of proceeding is deemed complete as currently constituted.

An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal. 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v).

Counsel fails to specify how the director made any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact in denying the petition. As neither the petitioner nor counsel presents additional evidence on appeal to overcome the decision of the director, the appeal will be summarily dismissed in accordance with 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v).

The burden of proof in this proceeding rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
