DISCUSSION: The Director, Vermont Service Center, denied the nonimmigrant visa petition. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The AAO will dismiss the appeal as moot.

The petitioner filed the nonimmigrant petition to classify the beneficiary as an intracompany transferee pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(L) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(L). The petitioner seeks to extend the beneficiary's status in the United States as a managerial or executive transferee for a period of two years. The petitioner requested that the U.S. Consulate in Shanghai, China be notified upon approval of the petition so that the beneficiary could obtain a visa and be admitted to the United States.

The director denied the petition on September 24, 2012, and the petitioner filed a timely appeal.

A review of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) records indicates that, subsequent to the denial of the petition, the petitioner filed a new Form I-129, Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker, on February 2, 2013. USCIS approved the new petition and granted the beneficiary L1A classification from March 28, 2013 to March 19, 2015. Although the petitioner has not withdrawn the appeal in this proceeding, it appears the beneficiary was authorized for employment with the petitioner during the approximate time requested in the instant petition, and the issues in this proceeding are therefore moot.

Accordingly, the AAO finds that the beneficiary's current nonimmigrant status deprives this appeal of any practical significance. Considerations of prudence warrant the dismissal of the appeal as moot. See Matter of Luis, 22 I&N Dec. 747, 753 (BIA 1999).

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed as moot.
