DISCUSSION: The Application for Certificate of Citizenship (Form N-600) was denied by the Field Office Director, Los Angeles, California, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant seeks a certificate of citizenship under former section 301(a)(7) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1401(a)(7), claiming that he acquired citizenship through his mother.

The director determined that the applicant failed to establish eligibility for issuance of a certificate of citizenship under section 341(a) of the Act because he does not reside in the United States.¹ See Director's Decision, dated February 2, 2011. The application was denied accordingly, and the applicant filed a timely appeal.

The immigration regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v) state, in pertinent part:

Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

On appeal, the applicant's mother concedes that the applicant does not reside in the United States. The applicant's mother states that the applicant has visited the United States on many occasions on a tourist visa and requests a permit for him to enter and remain in the United States in order to obtain his certificate of citizenship. The applicant's mother does not make any further arguments in regard to the basis for the appeal. The applicant's mother fails to identify either on the Form I-290B or through submission of a brief or evidence any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact made by the director. The AAO, therefore, will summarily dismiss the appeal.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.

¹ The AAO also notes that the applicant failed to provide evidence to establish physical presence requirements under section 301(a)(7) of the Act.
