IN RE: [REDACTED]

APPLICATION: Application for Permission to Reapply for Admission into the United States after Deportation or Removal under section 212(a)(9)(A)(iii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(A)(iii)

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT:

INSTRUCTIONS:

Enclosed please find the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All of the documents related to this matter have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Please be advised that any further inquiry that you might have concerning your case must be made to that office.

If you believe the law was inappropriately applied by us in reaching our decision, or you have additional information that you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reconsider or a motion to reopen. The specific requirements for filing such a request can be found at 8 C.F.R. § 103.5. All motions must be submitted to the office that originally decided your case by filing a Form I-290B, Notice of Appeal or Motion. The fee for a Form I-290B is currently $585, but will increase to $630 on November 23, 2010. Any appeal or motion filed on or after November 23, 2010 must be filed with the $630 fee. Please be aware that 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(1)(i) requires that any motion must be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reconsider or reopen.

Thank you,

Perry Rhew
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The District Director, New York, New York, denied the Application for Permission to Reapply for Admission into the United States after Deportation or Removal (Form I-212) and it is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Italy who, on February 10, 2009, appeared at John F. Kennedy International Airport. The applicant presented his Italian passport and an Arrival/Departure Record (Form I-94W) indicating that he was attempting to enter under the Visa Waiver Program (VWP). The applicant was referred to secondary inspection. The applicant admitted that, since he had departed the United States as a nonimmigrant student he had returned to reside in the United States for 26 out of the past 38 months. The applicant admitted that each time he entered the United States he was admitted as a VWP nonimmigrant. The applicant admitted that he was employed by his father's company and was able to perform his job duties while in the United States visiting his girlfriend. The applicant admitted that he rented a room from his girlfriend's brother. The applicant admitted that he was again returning to visit his girlfriend. The applicant was found to be in possession of his girlfriend's brother's driver's license and airline itinerary indicating that he had booked his return trip to the United States at the same time he booked his departing flight from the United States. The record reflects that the applicant had overstayed his nonimmigrant status by one day when he departed the United States on September 9, 2008. The record reflects that the amount of time the applicant resided in the United States had escalated over the last year.<sup>1</sup> The applicant was found to be inadmissible pursuant to section 212(a)(7)(A)(i)(I) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)(A)(i)(I), for being an immigrant without valid documentation. On February 10, 2009, the applicant was expeditiously removed from the United States pursuant to section 235(b)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1).

On June 10, 2009, the applicant filed the Form I-212 indicating that he resided in the United Kingdom. The applicant is inadmissible pursuant to section 212(a)(9)(A)(i) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(A)(i). The applicant requests permission to reapply for admission into the United States under section 212(a)(9)(A)(iii) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(A)(iii) in order to visit the United States as a VWP nonimmigrant.

The district director determined that the applicant did not warrant a favorable exercise of discretion and denied the Form I-212 accordingly. See District Director's Decision dated November 24, 2009.

On appeal, counsel contends that the applicant should not have been denied permission to reapply for admission. Counsel contends that the district director erred in finding that the applicant had a history of serious immigration violations. See Counsel's Brief, dated January 19, 2010. In support of his contentions, counsel submits the referenced brief and affidavits from the applicant and his girlfriend's brother. The entire record was reviewed in rendering a decision in this case.

Section 212(a)(9) of the Act states in pertinent part:

(A) Certain aliens previously removed.-

(i) Arriving aliens.- Any alien who has been ordered removed under section 235(b)(1) or at the end of proceedings under section 240 initiated upon the alien's arrival in the United States and who again seeks admission within five years of the date of such removal (or within 20 years in the case of a second or subsequent removal or at any time in the case of an alien convicted of an aggravated felony) is inadmissible.

<sup>1</sup> Over the past 245 days the applicant had remained outside the United States for only 64 days.

- (ii) Other aliens.-Any alien not described in clause (i) who-
  - (I) has been ordered removed under section 240 or any other provision of law, or
  - (II) departed the United States while an order of removal was outstanding, and who seeks admission within 10 years of the date of such alien's departure or removal (or within 20 years of such date in the case of a second or subsequent removal or at any time in the case of an alien convicted of an aggravated felony) is inadmissible.
- (iii) Exception.- Clauses (i) and (ii) shall not apply to an alien seeking admission within a period if, prior to the date of the alien's reembarkation at a place outside the United States or attempt to be admitted from foreign contiguous territory, the [Secretary of Homeland Security] has consented to the alien's reapplying for admission. [emphasis added]

(C) Aliens unlawfully present after previous immigration violations.-

- (i) In general.-Any alien who-
  - (I) has been unlawfully present in the United States for an aggregate period of more than 1 year, or
  - (II) has been ordered removed under section 235(b)(1), section 240, or any other provision of law, and who enters or attempts to reenter the United States without being admitted is inadmissible.
- (ii) Exception.

Clause (i) shall not apply to an alien seeking admission more than 10 years after the date of the alien's last departure from the United States if, prior to the alien's reembarkation at a place outside the United States or attempt to be readmitted from a foreign contiguous territory, the [Secretary] has consented to the alien's reapplying for admission.

(iii) Waiver

The [Secretary], in the [Secretary's] discretion, may waive the application of clause (i) in the case of an alien who is a VAWA self-petitioner if there is a connection between—

- (1) the alien's battering or subjection to extreme cruelty; and
- (2) the alien's removal, departure from the United States, reentry or reentries into the United States; or attempted reentry into the United States.

The applicant claims that he has remained outside the United States since his February 10, 2009 removal.<sup>2</sup>

The record establishes that the applicant resided in the United States for 26 out of the 38 months preceding his removal. The applicant admitted that he was performing job duties while in the United States, even though he was employed by his father's Italian company. The record reflects that the applicant was intending to immediately return to the United States after his last departure. While the record reflects that the applicant mostly complied with the 90 day admissions he was afforded, he overstayed his nonimmigrant status by one day when he departed the United States on September 9, 2008, and his visits to the United States had escalated over the year preceding his removal. The AAO finds that the applicant was residing in the United States without proper immigrant documentation, and that he had immigrant intent and continues to have immigrant intent.

The AAO finds that the applicant is inadmissible pursuant to section 212(a)(6)(C)(i) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(C)(i), for attempting to enter and gaining admission by fraud by presenting nonimmigrant documentation with immigrant intent on multiple occasions, but specifically on February 10, 2009. To seek a waiver of this ground of inadmissibility under section 212(i) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(i), an applicant must file an Application for Waiver of Grounds of Inadmissibility (Form I-601).

As required by 8 C.F.R. § 212.2(d), an immigrant who is outside the United States and requires both a waiver and permission to reapply for admission must simultaneously file the Form I-601 and the Form I-212 with the U.S. Consulate having jurisdiction over the applicant's place of residence. As the applicant has not complied with the regulatory requirements for filing the Form I-212, the application in this matter was improperly filed. Accordingly, the appeal is dismissed.

Beyond the decision of the field office director, the AAO finds that the applicant is inadmissible under the provisions of section 212(a)(6)(C)(i) of the Act and the record reflects that he does not have a qualifying family member in order to qualify for a waiver under section 212(i) of the Act.

<sup>2</sup> The AAO notes that, if it is later found that the applicant illegally reentered the United States at any time after his 2009 departure, he is inadmissible pursuant to section 212(a)(9)(C)(i) of the Act and is ineligible for permission to reapply for admission until he has remained outside the United States for a period of ten years. See Matter of Torres-Garcia, 23 I&N Dec. 866 (BIA 2006); Matter of Briones, 24 I&N Dec. 355 (BIA 2007); and Matter of Diaz and Lopez, 25 I&N Dec. 188 (BIA 2010).

8 U.S.C. § 1182(i). A section 212(i) waiver is dependent upon a showing that the bar to admission imposes an extreme hardship on the U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident spouse or parent of the applicant. A section 212(i) waiver may not be based upon extreme hardship to the applicant or his or her child(ren). As such, the applicant does not have any qualifying relatives upon which he can base a waiver application under section 212(i) of the Act. Therefore, the applicant is mandatorily inadmissible to the United States and no purpose would be served in the favorable exercise of discretion in adjudicating an application to reapply for admission into the United States.<sup>3</sup>

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.

<sup>3</sup> An application or petition that fails to comply with the technical requirements of the law may be denied by the AAO even if the Service Center does not identify all of the grounds for denial in the initial decision. See Spencer Enterprises, Inc. v. United States, 229 F. Supp. 2d 1025, 1043 (E.D. Cal. 2001), aff'd, 345 F.3d 683 (9th Cir. 2003); see also Soltane v. DOJ, 381 F.3d 143, 145 (3d Cir. 2004) (noting that the AAO conducts appellate review on a de novo basis).
