DISCUSSION: The waiver application was denied by the Field Office Director, Detroit, Michigan and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Mexico who was found to be inadmissible to the United States under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i)(II) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(B)(i)(II), for having been unlawfully present in the United States for more than one year and seeking readmission within 10 years of his last departure, and under section 212(a)(9)(C)(i)(I) of the Act for entering the United States without inspection after having accrued unlawful presence under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i)(II) of the Act. The applicant, therefore, seeks a waiver of inadmissibility pursuant to section 212(a)(9)(B)(v) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(B)(v), to reside in the United States with his U.S. citizen spouse and four U.S. citizen children.

In a decision dated January 2, 2013, the field office director concluded that the applicant was not eligible for a waiver as a result of his inadmissibility under section 212(a)(9)(C)(i)(I) of the Act. His waiver application was denied accordingly.

On appeal, counsel states that finding the applicant inadmissible under section 212(a)(9)(C)(i)(I) of the Act is incompatible with the remedial purpose of section 245(i) of the Act and that his waiver application should be considered on the merits. Counsel cites to Acosta v. Gonzales, 439 F.3d 554 (9th Cir. 2006) and Perez-Gonzalez v. Ashcroft, 379 F.3d 783 (9th Cir. 2004) to support his statements.

Section 212(a)(9) of the Act provides, in pertinent part:

(B) Aliens Unlawfully Present.-

(i) In general. - Any alien (other than an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence) who-

(II) has been unlawfully present in the United States for one year or more, and who again seeks admission within 10 years of the date of such alien's departure or removal from the United States, is inadmissible.

(v) Waiver. - The Attorney General [now the Secretary of Homeland Security (Secretary)] has sole discretion to waive clause (i) in the case of an immigrant who is the spouse or son or daughter of a United States citizen or of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, if it is established to the satisfaction of the Attorney General (Secretary) that the refusal of admission to such immigrant alien would result in extreme hardship to the citizen or lawfully resident spouse or parent of such alien...

Section 212(a)(9) of the Act states in pertinent part:

(C) Aliens unlawfully present after previous immigration violations.-

(i) In general.-Any alien who-

(I) has been unlawfully present in the United States for an aggregate period of more than 1 year, or

(II) has been ordered removed under section 235(b)(1), section 240, or any other provision of law, and who enters or attempts to reenter the United States without being admitted is inadmissible.

(ii) Exception.- Clause (i) shall not apply to an alien seeking admission more than 10 years after the date of the alien's last departure from the United States if, prior to the alien's reembarkation at a place outside the United States or attempt to be readmitted from a foreign contiguous territory, the Secretary has consented to the alien's reapplying for admission.

The record indicates that the applicant entered the United States in 1992 without inspection. He remained in the United States until July 2004, thus accruing unlawful presence from April 1, 1997, the date the unlawful presence provisions were enacted, until his departure in July 2004. The applicant then reentered the United States without inspection on July 21, 2004. Therefore, the applicant is inadmissible under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i)(II) and section 212(a)(9)(C)(i)(I) of the Act.

An alien who is inadmissible under section 212(a)(9)(C) of the Act may not apply for consent to reapply for admission unless the applicant has been outside the United States for more than 10 years since the date of the applicant's last departure from the United States. See Matter of Torres-Garcia, 23 I&N Dec. 866 (BIA 2006). Thus, to avoid inadmissibility under section 212(a)(9)(C) of the Act, it must be the case that the applicant's last departure was at least 10 years ago, the applicant has remained outside the United States and USCIS has consented to the applicant's reapplying for admission. In Duran Gonzalez v. DHS, 508 F.3d 1227 (9th Cir. 2007), the Ninth Circuit overturned its previous decision, Perez Gonzalez v. Ashcroft, 379 F.3d 783 (9th Cir. 2004), and deferred to the BIA's holding that section 212(a)(9)(C)(i) of the Act bars aliens subject to its provisions from receiving discretionary waivers of inadmissibility prior to the expiration of the 10-year bar. The Ninth Circuit clarified that its holding in Duran Gonzalez applies retroactively, even to those aliens who had Form I-212 applications pending before Perez Gonzalez was overturned. Morales-Izquierdo v. DHS, 600 F.3d. 1076 (9th Cir. 2010). See also Nunez-Reyes v. Holder, 646 F.3d 684 (9th Cir. 2011) (stating that the general default principle is that a court's decisions apply retroactively to all cases still pending before the courts). The applicant is currently statutorily ineligible to apply for permission to reapply for admission. As such, no purpose would be served in adjudicating his waiver under section 212(a)(9)(B)(v) of the Act.

Having found the applicant statutorily ineligible for relief at this time, no purpose would be served in discussing whether he has established extreme hardship to his U.S. citizen spouse or whether he merits a waiver as a matter of discretion. In proceedings for application for waiver of grounds of inadmissibility, the burden of proving eligibility remains entirely with the applicant. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. Here, the applicant has not met that burden. Accordingly, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
