Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Nebraska Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a native and citizen of El Salvador who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish that he was eligible for late registration. The director also found that the applicant had failed to establish his qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods.

On appeal, the applicant submits a brief statement and additional documentation.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2, provide that an applicant is eligible for TPS only if such alien establishes that he or she:

- (a) Is a national, as defined in section 101(a)(21) of the Act, of a foreign state designated under section 244(b) of the Act;
- (b) Has been continuously physically present in the United States since the effective date of the most recent designation of that foreign state;
- (c) Has continuously resided in the United States since such date as the Attorney General may designate;
- (d) Is admissible as an immigrant except as provided under § 244.3;
- (e) Is not ineligible under § 244.4; and
- (f)
  - (1) Registers for Temporary Protected Status during the initial registration period announced by public notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or
  - (2) During any subsequent extension of such designation if at the time of the initial registration period:
    - (i) The applicant is a nonimmigrant or has been granted voluntary departure status or any relief from removal;
    - (ii) The applicant has an application for change of status, adjustment of status, asylum, voluntary departure, or any relief from removal which is pending or subject to further review or appeal;

- (iii) The applicant is a parolee or has a pending request for reparole; or
  - (iv) The applicant is a spouse or child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant.
- (g) Has filed an application for late registration with the appropriate Service director, within a 60-day period immediately following the expiration or termination of conditions described in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

The phrase continuously physically present, as defined in 8 C.F.R. § 244.1, means actual physical presence in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous physical presence in the United States by virtue of brief, casual, and innocent absences as defined within this section.

The phrase continuously resided, as defined in 8 C.F.R. § 244.1, means residing in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous residence in the United States by reason of a brief, casual and innocent absence as defined within this section or due merely to a brief temporary trip abroad required by emergency or extenuating circumstances outside the control of the alien.

Persons applying for TPS offered to El Salvadorans must demonstrate continuous residence in the United States since February 13, 2001, and continuous physical presence since March 9, 2001. The initial registration period for Salvadorans was from March 9, 2001, through September 9, 2002. The record reveals that the applicant filed his initial Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, with Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) on November 8, 2002, almost two months after the initial registration period had ended.

To qualify for late registration, the applicant must provide evidence that during the initial registration period he fell within at least one of the provisions described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2) above.

The burden of proof is upon the applicant to establish that he or she meets the above requirements. Applicants must submit all documentation as required in the instructions or requested by CIS. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a). The sufficiency of all evidence will be judged according to its relevancy, consistency, credibility, and probative value. To meet his or her burden of proof the applicant must provide supporting documentary evidence of eligibility apart from his or her own statements. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(b).

In support of his initial application, the applicant submitted:

1. A photocopy of an abstract of his El Salvadoran birth certificate, with English translation;
2. A photocopy of his El Salvadoran national identity card (cédula);
3. A photocopy of a letter, dated July 8, 2002, from the El Salvadoran Consulate General in Chicago, Illinois, indicating that the applicant had applied for an El Salvadoran passport;

4. A letter, dated May 9, 2002, from [REDACTED] M.D., Wauconda, Illinois, stating that the applicant had been a patient since December 5, 2000; and,
5. A letter, dated May 2, 2002, from Rev. [REDACTED] Chicago, Illinois, stating that he had known the applicant since December 2000.

On April 3, 2003, the director requested the applicant to submit evidence to establish his eligibility for late registration. The applicant was also requested to submit evidence to establish his identity, and his qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods. The request was mailed to the applicant at the address indicated on his Form I-821. The record reflects that the applicant failed to respond to the director's request.

The director determined that the applicant had failed to submit sufficient evidence to establish his eligibility for TPS and denied the application on June 9, 2003.

On appeal, the applicant states that he never received the director's request for evidence, dated April 3, 2003. The applicant also states that he is a poor, sick person and needs TPS in order to survive in the United States. The applicant submits no new documentation in support of the appeal.

The record confirms that the applicant filed his TPS application after the initial registration period had expired. The applicant has submitted documentation in an attempt to establish his continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States. However, this documentation does not mitigate the applicant's failure to file his Form I-821 within the initial registration period. The applicant has not submitted any evidence to establish that he has met any of the criteria for late registration described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2).

The applicant claims to have lived in the United States since November 14, 2000. It is reasonable to expect that he would have a variety of objective evidence to support this claim. The only documents submitted by the applicant (Nos. 4 and 5, above) have little evidentiary weight or probative value as they are not in the form of affidavits, and are not supported by objective, corroborative evidence.

It is concluded that the applicant has failed to overcome the grounds of denial cited by the director. The applicant has not submitted sufficient evidence to establish his continuous residence in the United States since February 13, 2001, and his continuous physical presence in the United States since March 9, 2001. The applicant has also failed to establish that he is eligible for late registration. Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application for temporary protected status will be affirmed.

An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
