IN RE: APPLICANT:

APPLICATION: Application for Temporary Protected Status under Section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1254a

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT: SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

Enclosed please find the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) in your case.

This is a non-precedent decision. The AAO does not announce new constructions of law nor establish agency policy through non-precedent decisions. If you believe the AAO incorrectly applied current law or policy to your case or if you seek to present new facts for consideration, you may file a motion to reconsider or a motion to reopen, respectively. Any motion must be filed on a Notice of Appeal or Motion (Form I-290B) within 33 days of the date of this decision. Please review the Form I-290B instructions at <http://www.uscis.gov/forms> for the latest information on fee, filing location, and other requirements. See also 8 C.F.R. § 103.5. Do not file a motion directly with the AAO.

Thank you,

/s/ Ron Rosenberg
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for Temporary Protected Status was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254. The applicant filed an initial TPS application on August 25, 1999, which was approved.

The applicant filed his re-registration application for TPS on May 8, 2013. The director issued a request for evidence (RFE) on July 3, 2013, requesting final court dispositions for arrests on April [REDACTED] May [REDACTED] and September [REDACTED]. The applicant was also requested to submit an original birth certificate and a signed and dated explanation of the discrepancy in his date of birth. In the RFE, the director described the arrests. The director noted that the applicant responded to the RFE, and provided some of the evidence requested. Specifically, the applicant failed to submit final court dispositions for his May [REDACTED], and September [REDACTED], arrests. On December 19, 2013, the director withdrew TPS and denied the re-registration application because the applicant failed to provide the final court dispositions for these two arrests.

On appeal, the applicant does not address the basis for the denial of his application. The applicant did not submit any evidence with the appeal. On Part 2 of the appeal form, the applicant states that a brief and/or additional evidence will be provided within 30 days. However, as of the date of this decision, the record does not reflect receipt of a brief or evidence. Therefore, the record must be considered complete.

8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v) states, in pertinent part:

Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

The applicant has failed to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal. Nor did the applicant address or submit any evidence, on appeal, to establish eligibility for TPS and to overcome the director's findings. Accordingly, the appeal will be summarily dismissed.

As always in these proceedings, the burden of proof rests solely with the applicant. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
