Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The Acting Center Director, Vermont Service Center, denied the applicant employment authorization. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The matter will be remanded for further action consistent with this decision.

The applicant is a native and citizen of El Salvador who filed an initial Application for Temporary Protected Status (Form I-821) on June 2, 2005. The Director, California Service Center, denied the Form I-821 on April 27, 2006 based the applicant's failure to establish eligibility for late registration, continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the qualifying periods. The applicant subsequently filed a Form I-821 and an Application for Employment Authorization (Form I-765) to apply for the re-registration of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) on July 1, 2013.

On September 18, 2013, the acting center director, Vermont Service Center issued a decision indicating that the applicant was not eligible for employment authorization based on the prior denial of a Form I-821, but the acting center director did not address the applicant's current application for re-registration, and there is no other decision for that application in the record. On appeal, the applicant seeks review of the acting center director's TPS determination. Consequently, we deem the applicant's appeal an appeal of the denial of his re-registration application. Insofar as the record does not contain a decision on that application, and the acting center director's decision of September 18, 2013 does not address that application, the matter will be remanded for the issuance of a decision on the TPS re-registration application. If that decision is adverse to the applicant, the acting center director shall certify it to the AAO for review.

ORDER: The matter is remanded for issuance of a decision on the application for TPS re-registration.
